Gen. MacArthur's Force Made Advance In One Area Of Five Miles

Enemy Air And Artillery Attacks Are Reported By Gen. MacArthur

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—With fighting continuing on the Bataan front, the war department reported today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's counter-blitz has pushed the Japanese invaders back distances varying from one-half to five miles along the 13-mile front streched across the peninsula.

MacArthur's surprise counter-offensive commenced 48 hours ago, apparently has caught a numerically superior enemy off guard and forced them to retreat from advance positions about midway on the embattled peninsula.

Japanese Strike Back

In a brief communique, the army said that "the greatest advance was made on the right of the line north of Pilar."

Pilar is an important coastal point about midway down the peninsula on the Manila Bay side. This is approximately the position of the

MacArthur's Surprise Tactics Throwing Jap Plans Off Schedule

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Unorthodox Yankee military tactics being employed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines and activities of American fliers in the East Indies today are believed to be throwing Japan's Far Eastern blitzkrieg timetable far off schedule.

Such is the consensus of military experts after studying reports that MacArthur's outnumbered defenders launched a counter-offensive on Bataan at a time when they supposedly were digging in for an anticipated all-out Japanese onslaught.

Slow Down Japs

These sources further point out that value of this line of surprise strategy has been demonstrated time and again by United States army pilots, who have slowed down the Nipponese drive toward Java by attacking great fleets of enemy planes with a handful of pursuit aircraft.

While the threat to Java and to MacArthur's forces remains grave in view of Japanese naval, aerial and land superiority, military men believe that prolongation of such surprising and unexpected resistance is vital to the United Nations war effort.

Meanwhile, the United States and the United Nations slowly but with grim determination are moving reinforcements to the vital war areas.

Bursts Into Flames About Five Miles Off Coast Of New Jersey

(International News Service)

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Feb. 27.—An American tanker burst into flames, five miles off Asbury Park early today, lighting the shores for miles around.

Whether the ship had been set afire by enemy action or was victim of a marine accident could not be determined.

Ten coast guard vessels were dispatched to the scene when the fire first was reported and a number of survivors were reported to have been landed at nearby Bradley Beach. Coast Guardsmen however refused to confirm the rescues.

Officers of the third naval district were reported to be en route from New York to interview the survivors.

The ship caught fire at almost the same spot where the ill-fated Morro Castle burned to the water-

Near Showdown On 40-Hour Week

May Suspend Short Work Time For Period Of War Is Indication

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—With leaders conceding that they are "seriously concerned" about the situation, the house convened today to complete a showdown fight over proposals that the 40-hour week the eight-hour day, and federal laws relating to overtime pay be suspended for the war's duration.

A last minute check by Democratic chieftains, they said privately, disclosed that "at least half and perhaps a little more" of the majority members will vote for the sweeping proposal.

Fate of the measure, then, rests in the hands of the 161 Republicans in the house. While GOP leaders so far have declined to take part in the bitterest Democratic house fight since the war, most observers believe enough Republicans will vote for the proposal to insure its passage.

Army Flier Killed Near Connellsville

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Second Lieut. Robert Omer Jessup, 27, of Lindsay, Calif., was killed early today when his pursuit ship crashed on the top of Skullton Mountain, near Connellsville.

An army investigating board, headed by officers from the Middletown air depot, near Harrisburg, was understood to be on its way to the scene to conduct an inquiry.

Residents near the scene of the crash reported that Jessup's plane flying at approximately 100 feet above the mountain top, plunged to the ground early this morning. The plane was a U. S. Army P140-D, a pursuit ship.

Connellsville searching parties started for the scene and found the wreckage two hours later, lying in nine inches of snow. Jessup's body was brought back to Connellsville and death was described as instantaneous.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The British air ministry announced today that dockyards and shipbuilding works were bombed and fires were started when R.A.F. planes attacked the Nazi naval base of Kiel during the night.

Three British planes were listed as missing.

It appeared the raid was directed among other targets against the German Battleship Gneisenau, now in a floating dock at Kiel after suffering damage during its spectacular run from Brest with the Scharnhorst and Prinz Eugen.

First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander yesterday announced that all three Nazi warships have been damaged.

Woman Strangler Is Put To Death

(International News Service)

OSSINING, N. Y., Feb. 27—George Cvek, 24-year-old strangler of Mrs. Katherine Pappas, went to the electric chair at Sing Sing with the same callous composure he had displayed since his arrest, guards revealed today.

Smiling faintly, Cvek entered the death chamber at 11 p. m., EWT, last night and was pronounced dead at 11:04 p. m.

Cvek, who had not a single visitor during his nine months in the death house, ate two hearty meals before the execution. Once he looked at the sun streaming through the prison bars and remarked: "It's a nice day for some people."

According to the prosecution, Cvek gained access to the Pappas apartment in New York on Feb. 4, 1941, on the pretext of knowing his victim's husband. He strangled her with a towel and robbed her of cash and jewelry.

Despite Nazi Stand Russian Troops Are Pushing Offensive

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Field Marshal Lord Ironside declared that Germans troops in Russia are resisting desperately but that Soviet soldiers are still pushing ahead on all fronts. He adds that the heroic exploits of General Douglas MacArthur should inspirte the United Nations to take the offensive and "make the most of the chance he has given us.")

By FIELD MARSHAL LORD IRONSIDE
Written Expressly for International News Service

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Russian progress along the whole front appears to be increasing, despite the terrible weather, German resistance has not weakened and their troops are obeying Hitler's orders to stand to the last.

Their casualties and dead bear witness to their desperate resistance. They have counterattacked, too, but only in small bodies with slight local effect.

The technique of the Russian attacks is to make full use of the superior mobility of the Red army across the snow covered battlefields. Light ski detachments, accompanied by cavalry, penetrate between inhabited areas held by the Germans and pass far behind them. There they are joined by partisans, and lately by parachutists.

Attacks are then made against railroads, which are the main German supply lines, and against those roads which are being used for troop movements.

It is only when these attacks have begun to take effect that the main Russian assaults against German fortified areas begin. In places these assaults have been like our assaults on the Somme in the last war—the steady battering of artillery and continual envelopment by infantry.

Civilian Defense Plans Are Stressed

The meeting was held in the court house with Executive Director W. Fulton Jackson in charge. Every political sub-division in the county was represented except Wayne and Pulaski townships and the boros of Wampum, Enon Valley and South New Castle Boro.

Second Front Against Hitler Is Being Urged

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A second fighting front against the Nazis in western Europe was urged today by Maxim M. Litvinoff, Soviet ambassador to the United States, as essential to the destruction of Hitler's armies.

Warning that Hitler, himself, plans a spring offensive, Litvinoff expressed the belief the Germans could be defeated this summer "only by simultaneous offensive operations on two or more fronts separated by long distances."

In an address before the Overseas Press Club, the Soviet ambassador said it would be deplorable if the Red army were to lose the initiative, wrested from the German command, for "lack of adequate and timely support."

He reviewed the Red army's defense of "every foot of soil—and then going over to the offensive and hurling him back."

"The enemy's power has been shaken," he said, "but he is far from beaten. Disintegration has set in in his army, and at home the elements of decay are apparent but there is still a long way to go before he is defeated."

Litvinoff said Hitler had made it clear in his writings that the only thing that inspires him with fear, doubt and self-distrust is the possibility of having to fight on two fronts.

Labor Policy For War Is Demand

Congress Confronted With Problems Over Proposed Price Ceilings For Wages

LABOR LEADERS OPPOSING MOVE

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Touched off by reports of continued work stoppages in war industries, a major row over labor policies loomed in Congress as the C. I. O. and the A. F. L. united in seeking President Roosevelt's approval of a general program opposing any ceiling on wages.

In the House, Speaker Rayburn announced that he would permit an amendment to be offered to the pending war powers bill to suspend the 40-hour week—thus giving Congress the opportunity to arrive at a quick showdown on the issue.

Both labor organizations have taken firm stands against any legislation to freeze wages at current levels for the duration of the war. The program was submitted to the White House by the president's joint committee on wartime labor policy. At the same time the committee offered a mobilization plan for industrial manpower and for aid to employes temporarily out of work during conversion of plants to war

State Highway Force May Be Reduced

Road Materials Hard To Secure

Situation May Cause Curtailment Of Construction Work On Roads

HUGHES PREDICTS PERSONNEL CUTS

By JOHN SAGET
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27—Lack of construction materials due to the war may force a sharp reduction in highway department personnel, Secretary I Lamont Hughes predicted today.

"Shortages of materials for the building program, already hampered by the diversion of certain materials to essential war industries, naturally will mean that large construction and maintenance forces will not be necessary," Hughes said. "I will not hesitate to furlough employes if the situation arises."

The department is currently engaged in a $25,000,000 improvement program directed chiefly to projects on highways of military importance.

"Even though this is an election year there will be no increase in department personnel," Hughes said. "However, it must be remembered that we are preparing to start our summer construction program which will make it necessary to hire workmen just as has been done in previous years.

Last Report 11,518

"The last personnel report listed 11,519 employes in the department of which 8626 were full-salaried employes and the balance hired on a part-time basis. During the 1938 election year, the department's employment was increased to approximately 70,000 workers of which between 20,000 and 22,000 persons were employed in Luzerne county alone."

The latest report shows there was a total of 218 full-time employes and 11 part-time workers in that county, Hughes declared.

The material shortage is so acute, he said, that department engineers already have designed roads which do not use reinforcing steel in the foundation. Officials expect to have adequate supplies of oil but find it difficult to obtain asphalt in quantities.

Hughes pointed out that future curtailment of the construction program would affect a "large number" of employes, most of whom "are of an age that they may not be vital to the war and its allied industries."

Hopes To Continue Work

Hughes said, however, that he had not given up hope of continuing construction of good roads despite the war. Employes not absorbed by war industries would be available to carry on a maintenance and improvement program but if a labor shortage develops, he said, the department's programs would be suspended for the duration.

With the construction future darkened by material shortages, the department is faced with maintenance and improvement of 40,522 miles of state highways including 7,000 miles in need of modernization at an estimated cost of $380,000,000. At present, federal-aid funds totaling about $6,000,000 annually are earmarked for projects on strategic highways in Pennsylvania and for access roads to military and naval reservations, as well as war industry plants.

secretary of the council, told of the duties of each department of the council and Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, spoke upon the defense classes which are operating in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school.

It was announced that City Engineer Glenn R. Throop has a map of the various townships of the county and that township officials are being furnished with a copy of their own township map. On these it is asked that the black topped roads be marked in and the maps returned to Mr. Throop.

W. Sharp Fullerton, chairman for agriculture in the county, spoke of the necessity of war gardens this year and also of the necessity of cautioning people not to attempt gardens in ground unsuited for the purpose. Fred Taylor is Victory Garden chairman of the county, with district chairmen over the county.

M'ARTHUR'S SURPRISE TACTICS THROW JAP PLANS OFF SCHEDULE

According to Secretary of War Stimson and other high officials, these efforts are hampered greatly, however, by vast distances supplies must traverse.

Military men assert that MacArthur's audacious counter-offensive was a variation of tactics resorted to by most great military leaders sometime or other in their careers.

In the present World War, they point out, Germany defeated France by unexpectedly flanking the Maginot line. As another example, they cite Japan's surprise attack on Pearl Harbor.

Japs Off Guard

On Bataan Peninsula, the Japs obviously were caught off guard when McArthur's supposedly wearied troops "attacked sharply all along the line, capturing a number of the enemy's advance positions." The move also forced the Nipponese back "several kilometers" on the right flank.

MacArthur merely employed strategy that a number of high ranking American military men long have advocated. For example, Gen. Malin Craig made the following observation in a speech before the Army War College when he was chief of staff in the peaceful days of 1936:

"It is highly important to have a thorough knowledge of the so-called principles of warfare, to know the orthodox tactics to follow to attain results. It is likewise important to consider the effect of a surprising and audacious move by doing the unusual, the unexpected.

"It is more important to win a battle than to be consistent. It is better to be an unorthodox victor than to be regular and defeated. A cautious commander may save his army; the bold leader is likely to save his country. The country's fate is more important than the general's reputation."

Troops Holding Out

War Department communiques bear out the fact that MacArthur's bold and unexpected moves at crucial times have prevented the Japanese from completing their conquest of the Manila area nearly 12 weeks of battle. The latest thrust by the defenders may prolong the conflict for some time.

It appears now that even conquest of Bataan would not bring to an end American-Filipino resistance in the Philippines. Both MacArthur and Stimson disclosed that a "large" number of United States soldiers, aided by Moro Bolo men, still are holding part of Mindanao Island.

The Japanese hold Davao, principal port city on the southern Philippine Island, but American troops and an estimated 20,000 hard-fighting Moros are entrenched in the mountainous jungle half.

Meanwhile, American and United Nations forces in the Far East are battling furiously to stem the Japanese invaders while inflicting heavy losses on the enemy in the air, on land and on the seas. The nation's fighting men obviously are trying to give their country time to send reinforcements.

Unknowingly, they may be heeding other advice offered by Gen. Craig in his 1936 speech: "If one waits until everything is ready for an attack he may always be on the defensive."

line in 1934 with a loss of 134 lives.

Sergeant William Briden of the Belmar, N. J. police reported the fire first. He was on beach patrol when he said, "a big wall of fire shot about 200 feet in the air." He said there were several explosions.

As the flames raged hundreds of persons easily identified the stricken ship as a tanker.

Authorities remained silent, however, concerning any details of the marine tragedy.

Deputy Police Chief Thomas Wilson said coast guard cutters from Manasquan inlet were first to reach the vessel. He said it was probable that the survivors would be taken to New York by the coast guardsmen depending on the nature of their injuries, if any.

JAPS UNDER NO DELUSION

IT IS not in a spirit of boastfulness that American military leaders maintain that, fighting on approximately equal terms, the nation's forces—on land, at sea or in the air—will prove more than a match for the Japanese. This is not merely a theory espoused by partisans.

This is a fact that has been proved by the fighting on Bataan, by the Battle of the Macassar Strait and, more recently, by the destruction or the dispersal of the entire Japanese invasion fleet which attacked Bali.

These are heartening signs on a horizon dark with a deepening gloom. Furthermore, a retrospective glance upon history provides additional basis for hope and even confidence. The position of the United Nations is not as bad as was the position of the Continental Army at Valley Forge. It is not as critical as the position of the Union forces following Bull Run or during a great part of the first two years of the Civil War.

Nor is it as desperate as the Allied cause seemed to be in 1914, when Von Kluck was at the gates of Paris or again in the early summer of 1917, before the strength of the United States turned the tide of battle.

Certain formidable obstacles must be overcome before the United States can go to war with Japan in a really big way. The Japanese premier, General Tojo, is under no delusions as to the future. He has warned his people to keep their elation under control and to prepare for a long war.

And in a long war many of the advantages gained by Japan by reason of close proximity to bases, operation from an interior line and the fulfillment of plans prepared years ago, will gradually disappear under the impact of attack by a nation whose resources in manpower and material are large.

THE END OF A PENSION GRAB

Following the Senate's lead, the House of Representatives has been reasonably prompt in voting, by the wide margin of 389 to 7, to repeal the indefensible Congressional pension grab.

This is the same House, of course, that earlier approved pensions for Congressmen without debate and without a record vote. The change of heart is refreshing.

It should be remembered, however, that neither the Senate nor the House voted the repealer until citizens throughout the country set up a roar of protest against the pension project and the sly way it was enacted.

The best guarantee of good government in a democracy is for the people to be on the alert to demand it. The system works—especially in a Congressional election year.

NOT SACRIFICES

Just as "business as usual" is impossible in an all-out war, so the conditions of peacetime private life are being, and to a greater degree will be, sharply modified as time goes on. Tire rationing of a most rigid sort is in effect, as also is rationing of recapped and retreaded tires. It is a warning to those with worn tires to watch their mileage.

Already the public realizes that sugar rationing is justified by the inability to get sugar from the Philippines, and by the great demand for converting molasses from Cuban and American cane and sugar beets into alcohol for defense needs. One-half pound per person per week means no real hardship.

The War Production Board has issued an order, in an effort to conserve tin for war purposes, forbidding the manufacture of tin cans for many kinds of food, beer, spices and condiments, tobacco and all petroleum products. This, of course, is only a beginning—all of it, however, effective well within three months of the nation's entry into the war.

If the war is prolonged, as seems inevitable, restrictions may be applied to many other things. At a time when millions of Americans will be risking their lives, such changes in living standards are not sacrifices in any sense worthy of the word.

STALIN ON "LIBERATION"

Bombast was almost entirely absent from Stalin's order of the day to the red army on its twenty-fourth anniversary, however justified it might have been by the recent turn of events. So was any mention of an enraged Russia's real objectives further than to drive the German invader from Soviet soil, so that "the red banner will fly everywhere it has flown before."

There was no reference to Russia as a partner in an all-out war upon the Axis. Though avowedly confident of ultimate victory in a "just war" of "liberation," Stalin put in a flat disclaimer of any intent "at the destruction of the German people." Such reports he branded as "a wicked, foolish libel."

A careful distinction was drawn between "Hitler's clique," which would certainly disappear, and "the German people and the German state" as abiding entities. Its purpose, clearly, was to discount in advance in the minds of the wearied Germans any warnings by Hitler and his satellites before the spring campaign begins that unless Russia be conquered Germany is lost.

Its psychological import was that the German people could have peace on far better terms than imposed by Hitler on any of the conquered countries. The text of the speech can be read only as part and parcel of Russian strategy. There are still "stern" tasks ahead with need for redoubling defense equipment, Stalin warned, but he made much of the fact that Hitler was now deprived of his chief military asset, the element of "surprise."

So far, therefore, as Stalin has committed himself, Russian soldiers, always brave in defense of the homeland, are warranted in concluding nothing further than that they are engaged in the "noble cause" of "liberation." This is despite the fact that the Chinese hope and expect Russia will be arraigned against Japan and despite the hopes of the allies that she will be a participator in an ultimate invasion of Germany. In this regard Stalin may well be saving up surprises to match those of Hitler.

None of the war "experts" gave MacArthur a chance to hold out, so Bataan may finally prove to be the tail that wags the dog.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FINE ART IN BEING GOOD HOST

It's amazing how embarrassed some guests appear to be in the home where there is a child, be the child three or eighteen. Needless to say the child is embarrassed also. Many adults, even some parents, just don't know how to be a gracious guest of a child.

Some who really are not highly cultivated persons are utterly uncouth with children. Just imagine a guest acting toward you as if you were a person years beneath your age, a toy to me amused with, or a pup to pet. A child treated in any such way by a guest does not warm up to the guest, who in turn grows more embarrassed and responds still more crudely to the child. When the child is guest and the adult host or hostess, the older person may be equally lacking in the niceties of social grace.

The baby, child or youth wishes to be treated by a guest or host as the person he is. He wants to be treated as of his age and talked to at his level of experience and interest. He does not wish to be placed on the witness stand as if he were on trial; questioned, and cross-questioned.

Shall we as guest or host not ask questions of the child? Yes, but with the same spirit and consideration as if he were a highly honored adult guest or host.

Among adults we as guests or hosts choose skillfully what to ask Our aim is to bring out the most comfortable response from the one we question. When we are highly agreeable socially among other adults no question we ask annoys them. On the contrary, it pleases them. Applying this principle to the child, we shall try to ask him socially only what will make him feel worthy and comfortable, even in a measure momentarily superior.

Just as it is a very fine art to be able to make the right remark or ask the right question at the proper time to bring out the most agreeable response socially from an adult, so it also is a very fine art to succeed equally well with children. Indeed the latter is a finer art since it requires more insight; more imagination and more effort at putting yourself in the youngsters place. About the highest achievement in social art is that of being a gracious host or guest to a child.

The trouble with us adults is that we don't attach much importance to this accomplishment. We can be boors to children and still maintain our social caste among our adult friends. The child is not in a position to discipline us for our crudities. Our only hope of improvement is to grow aware of the need to acquire refinement toward children and then to discipline ourselves accordingly.

Not long ago I observed a guest treat a little girl of three in a most cultivated manner. The youngster served imaginary tea in her toy cups. The guest, a woman, past middle age, "drank the tea" and visted delightfully with her joyous little hostess.

All of us parents are inclined to be very rude to our children and the guests conversing with them. We are inclined to steal away the child's part of the conversation. I think every one of us has been guilty on this score. Let us watch ourselves and try harder to exercise good manners toward our children and other people's children.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you apologize to a child on discovering you had rebuked or punished him by mistake?

A. Yes, indeed, and for any other wrong I discovered that I did him. How could I feel right in his presence if I didn't? Nor can I imagine any parent so careful as not to have to make such apologies now and then. In the long run, they bring good dividends.

CHIVALRY AT A DANCE

I had a rather awkward experience recently at a dance—one I wish to avoid in future. I danced with a girl who is not very popular and found myself stranded with her at the beginning of the next dance (which I had planned with another girl). I simply said "Good-bye" and went on my way feeling very neglectful. What should I have done? —Arthur.

Answer: After you have danced with a girl do not monopolize her between dances and then leave her stranded as you did in this case. Take her instead back to her group or find a partner for her. Can't you imagine the poor girl's embarrassment at finding herself wandering around alone seeking the refuge of the dressing room? Hereafter, as soon as you have finished dancing, escort the girl back to her place and before the music can resume excuse yourself to her and her friends. If it so happens that she cannot find her friends, you should endeavor to find a partner for her. If this is not possible, you should explain the situation to her and offer to take her to the dressing room. On the other hand, no girl should subject herself to such an embarrassing situation. She should not presume on a man's friendship by clinging to him after they have finished dancing.

Question: Is it proper to have engraved together on flatware the first letter of the wife's given name, the first letter of the husband's given name and the first letter of the husband's surname?—I. E.

Answer: This marking was popular a century or more ago, and a few who like to revive old customs still employ it. But, according to present style flatware given to a woman after her marriage is marked with her new initials, the first letter of her given name, the first letter of her maiden surname, and the first letter of her husband's surname. For instance, Mary Brown is married to Thomas Smith. Her flatware should be marked "M.B.S." or merely "S" for "Smith" if she prefers. Silver given to a bride before her marriage is marked with her maiden initials or initials.

Question: Should I wear a white or a black waistcoat with my tuxedo?—Ted.

Answer: A waistcoat of any of the following materials may be correctly worn with a dinner jacket (tuxedo): White washable material, cloth like the jacket or black silk like the facing of the jacket.

HIS UNLUCKY DAY

"Yes, sir, I believe in that superstition about Friday, the 13th, bein' an unlucky day," said the Oldest Ranger in Yellowstone park. "I recollect one of 'em in particular.

"I was out on patrol and discovered I didn't have a bite of food in my grub bag and only one shell left in my trusty ol' gun. Well, I sneaked through the woods till I saw a brace of quail sittin' on a bush so I maneuvered aroun' so as to be sure of gettin' both of 'em with one shot.

"I let fly an', by golly when I went to pick up them two birds I found that I'd killed six more that was sittin' on the other side of the bush. Just then I heard a big commotion out in a little lake nearby. There was a big buck deer that had been skeered by my shot and had run out and got hisself mired down.

"I run out to help him but before I could get to him he drowned. As I was carryin' him to shore, I sank down in the mud an' water up over the tops of my boots. So I took 'em off to pour out the water and dern-ed if there didn't flop out of 'em a dozen of the finest trout you ever did see.

"Well, I strung the quail an' the deer an' the trout on a pole so I could carry 'em easier. But my struggles to get the load up on my shoulders was jest too much of a strain on my suspender buttons. Demed if one didn't fly off with such force that it killed a rabbit 100 yards away.

"When that happened, I jest decided it wasn't no use to try to do any more huntin'. Seemed like it was my unlucky day, it being Friday, the 13th."

Turn Of Events Boosts Cripps In Britain
Is Elevated To High Post In New Cabinet
Failing As Aristocrat, Joins Labor Party

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—It's all very well to say that Sir Stafford Cripps is Britain's new lord privy seal, but what the heck are the governmental duties of a lord privy seal? Ask that question at the British embassy, up on Massachusetts avenue, in Washington, and they'll explain and explain, but all their explanations won't mean a darned thing.

Once it seems to have been a real job. It was that of custodian of the great seal, which it was essential to affix to state documents, to give them validity.

Back in the 1600's, when his subjects rebelled against King James II and he had to scoot for continental Europe, he took the seal with him and chucked it into the River Thames. Lack of it nearly stalled the incoming regime until a substitute could be provided. Naturally, taking care of it was a responsible stunt in that era.

Now it's nothing much but a symbolic sort of an office. Yet it classes as highly important in a hereditary kind of a way. That is to say, it's important if its incumbent is an outstanding personality. If he isn't, it doesn't amount to anything considerable, but if he is, it gives him additional eclat, so to speak.

Well, Sir Stafford Cripps is.

Besides being lord privy seal, for whatever that may be worth to him, he also becomes the Winston Churchill administration's party leader in the house of commons, and that's a post of genuinely capital magnitude.

Accordingly, he is due for a bit of analysis.

Joined Labor Party

As a son of the first Lord Parmoor, he sought to rate as an aristocrat. He was only a "younger son," however, and nobody can tell in advance how younger sons will turn out. Instead of remaining aristocratic, young Stafford, who hadn't the "Sir" prefixed to his monicker then, tied up with the British labor party, got into parliament and soon became so prominent that presently King George V knighted him. Hence the Sir.

In due course the labor party expelled him as "too radical," and anybody who is too radical for those British laborites must be a radical in capital letters. The laborites, though, said that his radicalism had a communistic tinge, and communistic tendencies aren't included in their philosophy.

Be that as it may, Sir Stafford was a lawyer, independently of his political activities, and, as a lawyer, he made so much money that he retired from his legal practice, saying he was tired of trying cases between mere "capitalists and capitalists." Possibly it's noteworthy that he didn't tire of it until after he'd accumulated his own bank account.

Anyway, on the loose again and being entirely too industrious an individual to find unqualified lesiure any fun, he got himself named as British ambassador to Moscow. Anglo-Russian relations were pretty strained at that juncture, and the probabilities are that London considered the Soviet capital a good place to dump him into, getting rid of him at home. He was a pest to his home government even there, though, with his everlasting clamoring for better terms between it and the communistic crowd.

Then, all at once, what should break out but war between the Nazis and the Soviets!—and Russia, automatically, became overnight, Britain's ally.

His Stock Soars

The Soviet aggregation already liked Sir Staff personally, for he'd been sympathizing with them. He was the ideal chap to fix things up, and he did it in classy shape. Between sunrise and sunset he bounced from deuce to ace high in London's estimation.

He was so valuable to John Bull, in short, that he couldn't be spared any longer as far away as Moscow, and, as soon as he'd cemented the Anglo-Russian tie, had to be brought back to headquarters for his present lord privy sealership, and the Churchill leadership in the house of comons. The betting is that he'll get the peerage shortly—will become a viscount or an earl or a duke or some such title.

Prime Minister Churchill made several other changes among his advisers, simultaneously with his appointment of Sir Staff to his lord privy sealership. Some were of lively interest in Washington. Some weren't especially so. One in the former classification involved Max Aiken, alias Lord Beaverbrook, but he requires a chapter by himself.

MOTHER COURAGE

And still she smiles with us today
And bravely does her share,
Although her boy has gone away
And may not tell her where.
And still she hums a cheerful song
And shows no sign of dread,
But marches, just as he, along
The path that all must tread.

Day after day she carries fear
Deep hidden in her heart;
And with unbounded courage here
Contrives to do her part.
She reads his penciled "All is well,"
News censors grave prefer,
And writes at once to him to tell,
That all is well with her.

These days are hard for mothers all,
Whose boys have marched away.
They never hear the bugle call,
On guard at home are they.
And oh, how brave and fine they are,
The long suspense to bear
Whose boys are absent and afar
And may not tell them where!

BUNDLES FOR CONGRESS

Make whoopee for Bundles for Congress!
Be just to the Knights of the Frank,
To Wheelers and Nyes, to Fish and to Dies
And all of the file and the rank,

The highest paid Congress on earth
Who vote vast expenses to build up home "fences"—
Let's give 'em just what they are worth.
Let's handpick the B. Clarks and Tobys,
The Days—all of whom we feel doubt—
And not give 'em pensions but bundles,
Whoopee! Let us bundle 'em out!

The male citizens of this nation more than sixty years of age can remember their childhood very distinctly. Most of them had regular family duties to perform. They might have had a very strong desire to play baseball on Saturday afternoon or go fishing, but there were potatoes to hoe; there was stove wood to be provided; there were things to be done to help in the family life and usually the father paid some little amount every week to the boy for the work done, so that if the boy needed a specific amount of cash, it was up to him to negotiate for it and to carry out the family arrangement, baseball or no baseball. No one had ever heard of Child Welfare, WPA, USO, Townsend Plans, Social Security, Ham and Eggs, the Forgotten Man, Farm Subsidies, the gold content, Economic Royalists. If a New Dealer had shown up in those days, he would have been hung as a witch.

There were no paved roads, horseless carriages, telephones, motion pictures, radios, airplanes or social workers. The boys in those days had plain milk not cream, on their oatmeal. They had a good deal of pork and fried mush and applesauce for desert and they were glad to get it. If they got into trouble, like getting sick or quarantined for the measles, the neighbors came in with a basket of grub, sat with the afflicted, fed the cows and chickens, split the kindling and they all got down on their hands and knees and prayer God to lay off and give them relief. Which He usually did.

That was only fifty years ago, when this was the land of the free and the home of the brave, and if any soap box reformer shot off his face about having some better way of doing thing and cussing out the government, he was escorted up the gully by a delegation of respectable citizens, and if moral persuasion failed to produce the desired results, he was given a mild strapping where it would do most good, or sometimes a few feathers mixed with molasses,

One Man's Opinion

We have a new government secrets bill cooking which would make it an offense for a senator to give the right time if the clock is stamped "confidential."

The bill was worked up to keep chit-chat from the enemy but it includes an option on peacetime conversation.

Technically we do not have an enemy in peace-time but we can dig one up for purposes of not telling him something.

Newspapers have been assured that the bill would not necessarily be fatal to them. This is the same guarantee that goes with a hempen noose.

What they mean is that interviews with apple queens and statistics on the growth of the tulip industry could be peddled openly.

Senator O'Mahoney said the bill was drawn so loosely that the government could "give information to all red-haired persons but withhold it from others."

In the next mail we got a letter from a fellow who said "I have red hair and can write like crazy—how much am I offered?"

Thought for the day: S-s-s-s-sh! Government at work!

HAPPIGRAMS

by ERICH BRANDEIS

An amendment to the $20,000,000,000 naval appropriations bill, proposed by Representative Jessie Sumner of Illinois, was accepted unanimously by the House, with broad grins.

According to this amendment none of the twenty billions shall be used, directly or indirectly, to pay for champagne, parties or gifts at launchings of naval craft.

It is not good for the morale of troops, crews, defense-bond buyers and taxpayers, said Mrs. Sumner, to read of all these luxuries.

"If Helen of Troy could launch a thousand ships without a diamond bracelet or champagne," she added, "our women can do the same things."

Very true, Mrs. Sumner. But remember, Helen was a myth; our women of today are alive!

Filipinos Are Fighting Hard For America

(International News Service)

..WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Secretary of War Stimson said Thursday that a "good many" American-Filipino troops still are fighting and holding a large portion of the Island of Mindano in the Philippines.

This was revealed when Stimson read a personal message to him from Capt. Datu Gumbay Piang, leader of the 20,000 Moro Bolo men in Mindanao, an island 450 miles south of the Bataan Peninsula where Gen. Douglas MacArthur is making his stand.

"I wish to reiterate to the great American president, through you, my people's pledge of loyalty to the government of the United States," Piang's message read. "The 20,000 Moros enlisted as Bolo men of the United States army whom I command will fight to the last and die for America and their country."

Stimson also read a message from Piang address to MacArthur in which the native leader said "Your great father's saber is used in our war against the enemy and picture is in my headquarters."

The reference was to Gen. Arthur MacArthur, who was in charge of American forces in the Philippines following American occupation after the war with Spain.

Stimson recalled a meeting some years ago with Piang's father in Mindanao. He added that in the early days of American occupation the Moros offered the stiffest resistance but have been loyal ever since.

Sub Sinker Is Promoted

Pilot Who "Sighted Sub, Sank Same," Given Promotion By U. S. Navy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Disclosing for the first time the name of the pilot who "sighted sub, sank same", the navy department announced Thursday that Donald Francis Mason of Rochester, Minn., has been promoted to a chief petty officer and commended for meritorious conduct in action.

In revealing that Mason was the author of the now-famous laconic and alliterative report concerning his successful action against the marauding enemy submarine, the navy also made public details which have since been garnered from the man who it has just promoted.

The full story follows:

"While piloting a plane on patrol duty, Mason observed the wake of a submarine proceeding submerged at periscope depth. He immediately turned, dove to a low altitude and dropped two depth bombs which straddled the periscope. The conning tower of the submine rose clear of the water for a short period and then sank again. A large patch of oil soon covered the area. The attack was adjudged successful.

"In this attack Mason demonstrated a high degree of coolness, alertness, initiative and training, and excellent flying ability."

The story of the attack on the sub was contained in the commendation Mason received from the navy department when he was advanced from the rank of aviation machinist's mate, first class, to that of aviation chief machinist's mate.

Mason's navy career began Aug. 9, 1935, when he enlisted as an apprentice seaman at Minneapolis. He became a naval aviation pilot Dec. 15, 1938.

He is 27 years old and married. His wife, Mrs. Anna Maria Mason, resides at Alameda, Calif.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 46
ADDITIONAL TO THE TAX FOR DELAY IN FILING RETURNS

In the event of failure to make and file an income tax return as required by law within the prescribed time, a certain percent of the amount of the tax is required to be added to the tax unless failure to file the return within the prescribed time is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to be due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

The amount to be added to the tax is 5 percent if the failure is for not more than 30 days, with an additional 5 percent for each additional 30 days or fraction thereof during which failure to file a return continues, not to exceed 25 percent in the aggregate.

A taxpayer who files a tardy return and wishes to avoid the addition to the tax for delinquency must make an affirmative showing of all facts, alleged as a reasonable cause for failure to file the return on time, in the form of an affidavit which should be attached to the return. Alleged ignorance of the law does not constitute reasonable cause for delinquency.

Taxpayers should make every effort to file their returns within the time prescribed by law and thus avoid the possibility of the additions to the tax for delinquency in filing returns.

STRAY DOGS.

What about the stray dog situation? Where do they come from? You ask? The stray dogs are the ones that are unwanted and cause all the complaints; do all the damage to private property, are a menace to poultry, livestock, wild life and at times even human life. They spread rabies, often are the cause of someone losing a good dog in this manner. Poor Mutts, yes they are homeless. Who's to blame?

Listen, I will tell you where most of these poor homeless muts come from, and they were not always homeless. No. They are the cute little pups, which, maybe, you or you gathered up and were about to cost you a $1.10 or $2.10 because they had reached the age to require a license or perhaps your child had gotten tired of them and not wanting them you took them out in the country and dropped them off with no thought of how they were going to obtain food or shelter. It is possible you just quit feeding them and kicked them out to annoy your neighbors. Instead of trying to find a home for them, or failing in that to have someone dispose of them in a humane manner.

These poor mutts, thrown out by you, after you lose interest in them, must eat or starve and wild life, poultry and livestock are just food to them. Yes, Mr. Dog Dumper, you and you are to blame and you should be ashamed of yourself.

The dog law enforcement division of the department of Agriculture enlists the cooperation of all constables, police officers and other interested individuals in order that we may eliminate the stray homeless dogs, to see that all ownerrs of dogs secure a license for them as soon as they become six months of age and each year following as soon as the current year license expires, January 15, as long they have their dogs.

Also to help educate dog-owners as to the importance of giving their dogs a good home, proper care and shelter. If dog-owners would do this, the uncontrolled and unlicensed dog nuisance would cease to exist.

When we think of these poor mutts, homeless through no fault of theirs, we give thanks for the vast army of dog lovers who take care of their dogs, respect their neighbor's rights and keep their dogs at home for their companionship. If all dog-owners were dog-lovers we would need no law enforcement as dog lovers protect their dogs.

British-Scottish Soldiers Seeing Sights In East

Small Detachment Of British-Scottish Troops Arrive In New York Area

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A small detachment of English and Scottish soldiers—the first British troops to set foot on American soil since the war began—is believed Thursday in the metropolitan area.

The men, easily distinguished by their Glengarry caps, cockney accents and Scottish brogues, are seeing the town and enjoying it thoroughly.

"It's grand to be here, you are wonderfully hospitable to us," they insist to a man.

They are seasoned soldiers, with services ranging from one to 30 years. Many have been in active combat against the Axis and many wear decorations won in the first World War.

These men are lavish in their praise of their treatment, of American silk stocking they've stocked up on to send home to their women folk, of American cigarettes, and they are not too critical of our beer and whiskey. But they do object—and strenuously—to our 5:30 a. m. reville. The bugle blows at 7:30 a. m. back home.

Homicide Case In Mercer County

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Feb. 27.—The March term of quarter sessions court will convene on next Monday, when the grand jury goes into session. There is one homicide case on the docket, the first for several terms. Other cases are all of minor importance, with driving while intoxicated predominating. There are several for operating gambling devices and writing "numbers".

The March term of sheriff sales will also be conducted on Monday with 26 tracts listed by Sheriff Aleck Elliott for sale.

Still, it would pay to give Congressmen $10,000 pensions if it gave them courage to vote like statesmen.

Plan Expansion Of Production Of Aluminum In U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—William L. Batt, chief of the WPB materials division, today announced a $350,000,000 expansion in the nation's aluminum production program designed to produce an additional 640,000,000 pounds of the metal annually.

Batt said the new increase—the second of such size in less than a year—would boost the United States' total projected aluminum supply to 2,580,000,000 pounds and insure adequate quantities to meet President Roosevelt's goal of 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943.

The WPB official also announced an expansion in the nation's magnesium program to increase the present production from 400,000,000 pounds a year, to 725,000,000 pounds.

Although the sites for the new plants have not yet been finally determined, Batt said the new program, insofar as aluminum ingot production is concerned, will be in the hands of the Aluminum Corporation of America—"the people best qualified to do it."

Flood Of War Materials Ready By First Of July

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—A flood of war materials that will confound the Axis will pour out of American industries by July 1, William P. Witherow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers declared Thursday while disclosing formation of a new war committee.

This committee, which is to be headed by Malcolm Muir, publisher of Newsweek, "will reorganize and manage the N. A. M.'s war production activities for the duration of this unholy war of the whole earth", said Witherow.

Promising that American soldiers, sailors, aviators and Marines will "get the goods to beat the pants off the Axis," Witherow said.

"American industry has hit the victory pace: it is winning the battle of production XXX war output by December 1, will be 75 per cent ahead of the similar period last year."

Trust President In Directing War Plans Is Babson's Appeal

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feo. 27.—Last week I appealed to the 4,000 men in Washington who determine what we can buy. I begged them to be reasonable because the war will finally end—not by lack of men or munitions, but because the home people of some nation will get sick of war. Let not that be our people. I explained that above almost everything else our people want transportation. I repeat there is no earthly reason why readers need go without 3,500-mile tires. May Washington use sense.

BABSON

Let's Use Sense

Now, let me urge my 4,000,000 readers to use sense also. We have a right to demand tires, but Washington has a right to run the war without interference or complaints from us. Too much advice is being given by columnists, commentators and parlor gossips. Washington has a carefully-mapped-out campaign which will win the war and bring your boys back home if you'll only be patient.

When I read in the papers and listen to the radio I get blue and discouraged; but when I study statistics on steel production, tools and electric power I become a rip-roaring optimist. The United Nations surely will have a wonderful victory if we people will just be patient and let our government alone. Be content, readers, to operate your jallopies and let President Roosevelt run the war.

The best thing parents can do is to give the United Nations TIME. The Germans and Japs have been preparing for years just how to lick us. Now, let us take all the time we need in preparing to lick them. Mr. President, don't let any Congressman or would-be presidential candiate hurry you. I know your plans; they are sound. Stick to them. Take your time. Don't be bullied into making a move until you are ready.

Let me add that your president wants to protect your boys not only from shells, but also from tropical diseases. This means getting them well-hardened before they leave this country. He is your best friend. I say this not only as a statistician but as one who in 1940 ran against him and got a terrible licking!

Face the Facts

A calm view of the mess in which our country now finds itself may briefly be summed as follows:

1. England, Russia, China and our other Allies are absolutely dependent upon us. If, at any time, we should quit the war, England would starve; Russia would collapse, and poor China would be conquered.

2. The United States and Canada must not quit until the Hitler, Mussolini and Japanese gangs are completely eliminated. The TIME needed to do this is of secondary importance.

3. Mr. Churchill has enviable powers of persuasion; but he is working for England and not for us. He is asking of our president more than he expects to get.

I especially have in mind Churchill's apparent present efforts to throw the Battle of the South Pacific into our lap. As a student of Climatic Statistics, I say that Churchill should not decide where our boys should go. We cannot win this war by going off "half cocked". Our enemeis have been years in preparing every detail. We should now adopt the same policy and thereby avoid the tropical trap which has been set for us.

This Is a Different War

Twenty-five years ago our boys fought in Europe in a climate and with a people to which they were adjusted. Hence, they were not subject to strange diseases. With World War II, the outlook is entirely different. Churchill's present plan appears to be to send boys from Canada and all parts of the United States to Asia., Africa and the Tropics of the Pacific. With our greatly superior productive facilities we can conquer our enemies if we will only be patient and cut out politics. Parents don't want to appear unpatriotic and are keeping their thoughts to themselves; but many are questioning whether their boys should be sent to these hot and diseased countries—at least until adequately prepared.

Congress cannot run the war. Certainly, congress was way behind the president in foreseeing and preparing for the war. If congressmen had thought less of getting appropriations and jobs for themselves and had taken F. D. R.'s advice three years ago there would have been no Pearl Harbor tragedy. Now, congress should not make another mistake and too suddenly throw our boys into the conflict ill-prepared. Parents won't stand too many wretched congressional errors.

How To Win

We should confine northern draftees to naval and air work and insist that English Colonials do shore work in the Tropics. Our sailors and flyers can afford fighting risks there as they can be fed good American food and would be free from tropical diseases. Military experts will tell you that Germany, Italy and Japan can be annihilated by our navies and airforces if Russia will contribute Vladivostok and Turkey the Dardanelles. We may be in too much hurry to win the war. Perhaps disease will do the trick if we are patient. If the war can be won at less risk and by taking a longer time, shouldn't this be done? We do not want to unnecessarily send boys from snow drifts into tropical jungles too hastily.

Climatic Dangers

Let us benefit from climate and biology rather than have these used to crush us. Americans can safely be sent to Alaska and Russia. It is also okay to have them in Ireland. But is it good strategy to send our infantry now to Africa and the South Sea Islands? Let us plan for a long war, giving our enemies time to commit suicide. If it is our job to lick the world, let's sit in the driver's seat, give the orders to Churchill and tell him where to send his men!

When in the Orient two years ago, I was told it would be suicidal to send northern troops there except they live on battleships and carriers. When the truth is out, it may show the climate, rather than "hordes of Japs" caused Singapore's surrender. We can make our best contribution by working with natural law instead of bucking it. As Alexander Guerry says: "Democracy gives the president and congress the freedom of choice; but they cannot free us people from the sad consequences when they make a bad choice."

The World and the Mud Puddles

and told to make himself scarce on or before sunrise.

The President was a semi-diety whose qualifications were measured according to his comparison with old Abe Lincoln. Members of Congress, Representatives or Senators, were gentlemen of high esteem, whose presence in Washington conferred upon them a radiance that made them objects of profound and sentimental reverence whenever they condescended to visit the humble communities of their constituents.

But what now? How the mighty have fallen!

The esteemed representatives of the people, in both the House of Representatives and the Senate, have not only stumbled into suspended animation so far as representing the people is concerned, but they have all but reduced themselves to the humblest lackers of a governmental power-lord, who gives orders, instead of taking them from the lawful delegates of the people.

For many years now we have been floundering through a period of cataclysmic depression, hoping against hope that a Congressman or a Senator might some day give birth to some original and common sense plan of beating the depression and restoring some degrees of prosperity. Not an idea has been forthcoming. Even the President gave up hope and called on the members of Congress to hand over the purse strings and just keep quiet and leave everything to him. Meekly and humbly they did as they were told and before they knew it, all they were permitted to do was to sit around and cash their pay checks.

In this predicament, and wondering what would happen to them and how they would eat if they by chance should ever be defeated for re-election, they finally had an idea —PENSIONS for superannuated and retired statesmen, so they voted themselves Pensions. The idea is creating hysteria all over the country. The American's invariable sense of humor rises to the surface with the suggestion that the people of the country crawl into their attics and rustle out all their old discarded shoes, clothing and hats and mail them to Congresmen for their old age.

How long, Oh Lord, how long?

U. S. Alone Can Produce More Steel Than Axis

(International News Service)

CHICAGO.—The United States can produce three tons of steel for every two tons that can be made by Germany, Italy, Japan and all the Axis-dominated countries of the world put together, according to a study by the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The report also disclosed that the combined steel capacity of the United States, the British Empire, and Russia is considerably more than twice the Axis total.

"Even if two-thirds of the Russian capacity should fall into German hands, the United States and the Allies could still make 60 per cent more steel than Germany and the rest of the world," report stated.

Spring Conditioning that's TAILORED TO YOUR CAR!

Come in Now for a FREE Inspection by Authorized Factory-Trained Mechanics that Will Show Exactly what Attention YOUR Car Needs.

WANT LONGER TIRE LIFE? When switching tires, do you remember the spare? If you'll let us switch your tires, working the spare in where it can best be used, each tire out of the five you have will be on the road only four-fifths as much as usual. Net result: Longer life from the same full set.

GOOD BRAKES MEAN SAFETY PLUS. Brakes ought to be kept in proper adjustment for safety reasons alone. Beyond that, brakes that are "out" can also result in unnecessarily increased tire wear. For best results, let Buick men adjust your Buick brakes to Buick factory specifications.

LICK-AND-A-PROMISE spring conditioning won't do this year, mister!

You've got something more important to think about than just changing oil and grease – you've got a whole car that will have to see you through the duration, and you can't afford to overlook any part of it.

That's why Buick spring service is tailored to your own particular car.

We change oil and grease in the regular way, of course – we check batteries, cooling systems, wheel alignment and other routine matters.

Your whole car lasts longer when it is conditioned as a unit – especially when trained Buick specialists do the job.

So we write your spring conditioning ticket to fit your car's needs – not to make up a ready-made "package" according to average requirements.

The cost is no higher than for a comparably good job anywhere else. It's actually lower in the long run, because it pays to have a job done right.

Drop in for a FREE check-up by our authorized factory-trained mechanics and let us detail the service your car should have this spring.

Registration Of Enemy Aliens To End Tomorrow

No Extension Of Time Will Be Granted Those Who Fail To Register Now

Enemy aliens who fail to get registered by 5 p. m. Saturday are going to be out of luck because no extension of time will be granted, Postmaster William R. Hanna, who is in charge of this work here, announced today.

Over 900 had been registered at the close of business Thursday night, and with today's and tomorrow's registrations, the figures are expected to be well over 1,000.

The office where the registrations are being taken on the second floor of the Post Office building will be open at the usual time tomorrow from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m., and there is expected to be a big rush, both this afternoon and tomorrow, of those who have put off this unpleasant task until the 11th hour.

Youthful Chicago Slayer Remorseful

Clarence McDonald, Slayer Of Girl In Theater Asks For Electric Chair

International News Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—"I hope they give me the electric chair. I've nothing to live for."

Clarence (Steve) McDonald, 17-year-old confessed slayer of his pretty high school sweetheart, Dorothy Broz, uttered those words on Thursday in the Chicago police department's detective bureau, as he awaited a summons to appear before a Cook county grand jury.

Admitting he had not slept during the night, the pale red-eyed youth refused breakfast, saying he was "too sick to eat." He was removed from the detective bureau to the county jail in a patrol wagon.

McDonald again and again expressed regret at his spectacular crime of shooting Miss Broz in the balcony of a Chicago Loop motion picture theatre while they were witnessing a show Tuesday night.

"If I could only live my life over again this would not have happened," he said. "I'm sorry. I can't rest."

Funeral services were planned for Miss Broz, a recent graduate of the Morton high school in suburban Cicero, where she was voted an "all-American girl" by classmates. Rites will be conducted Saturday morning at St. Adelbert's Catholic church of suburban Berwyn.

McDonald was ordered held for the grand jury after a coroner's jury had heard how he allegedly lured Miss Broz to the theatre and shot her while embracing her during the picture.

North-South Wage Dispute Adjusted

Salary Increases For Southern Workers To Aggregate 12.73 Per Cent

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27.—Representatives of the Aluminum Workers of America, C.I.O., and the Aluminum Company of America on Thursday announced settlement of the north-south wage differential dispute with southern workers receiving salary increases totaling 12.73 per cent.

Agreement on the exact terms of the application of the recent war labor board decision on the Alcoa case was reached late yesterday in Pittsburgh and grants workers at Alcoa, Tenn., and Badin, N. C., an increasing-in wage, raising it from 55 to 62 cents, the union announced.

"In those classifications where increases would result in a narrowing of the existing differentials to less than 11 cents," the announcement stated, "the southern workers will receive an increase up to the point where the differential will be 11 cents.

"Where there are no comparable classifications, as in the entire reduction process, there will be a straight 12.73 per cent increase for all employes."

In the Alcoa plant at New Kensington, Pa., workers will receive their afternoon shift bonus of three cents an hour and a night shift bonus of five cents on all but continuous operations.

"Both these decisions," representatives said, "will be put into effect retroactively as of February 11."

Even Shakespeare is doctored by producers. Kids the age of Romeo and Juliet would seem silly instead of romantic.

Two Are Dead In Gun Battle

Feud Reaches Tragic End In Barber Shop At Russellville, Ark.

(International News Service)

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., Feb. 27.—Blazing guns in a barber shop left two political feudists dead today.

One of them was Sheriff Champ Crawford, who gained national fame by his daring capture of Jack Russell, bandit, kidnaper and murderer, who was sentenced to 199 years imprisonment in Chicago in September, 1940, for the kidnap-slaying of Billy Scott Hamilton, a Kansas flour salesman.

The other was Jim Wilson, who was defeated for sheriff by Crawford in the 1940 campaign.

Crawford was being shaved in the barber shop of Mollard Jacobs yesterday when Wilson strode in and said to the barber:

"Wait a minute, Jacobs. I'll finish this man."

Crawford, the lather still on his face, rose from the chair and shouted:

"You're all wrong about this, Jimmy. Let's talk it over."

But Wilson was not to be stopped. He drew a gun and began shooting. Desperately wounded, Crawford drew and returned the fire, then slumped over a shoeshine stand.

Jacobs and an assistant, who had run out of the shop when bullets began flying, returned to find Crawford dead and Wilson mortally wounded. Crawford's last bullet had struck Wilson in the abdomen. He died a few hours later.

Crawford was acclaimed for his resourcefulness when he disguised himself as a fisherman and captured the desperado Jack Russell in a hideout fishing camp near Cass, Ark.

Students To Make Model Airplanes

Vocational Director Cass Is Asked To Supply Two Sets Of Fifty Planes

COMMITTEE IS NAMED FOR JOB

Earl M. Cass, director of Vocational Education in the New aCstle Public Schools has been asked by Urwin Rountree, Chief of Industrial Education for the state of Pennsylvania, to supply two sets of fifty model airplanes, which are desired by the Navy department for instruction purposes, and work on the project will be gotten under way in the schools here at once.

A committee consisting of John Duran, of the George Washington faculty, chairman; Russell Remaley and Ralp Humphrey, of the Ben Franklin faculty; and John Cornelius of the Senior High faculty, has been named by Mr. Cass to oragnize the project, and already around 150 boys have enrolled to assist in the work.

The committee urges any craftsman in the county who is interested in helping out to also enroll and to get in touch with the members of the committee.

This is no toy airplane project, but is a real practical job, and requires that all models be made to scale, as they are to be used by the navy in training air and ground personnel in recognition of planes, range estimation, and determination of cones of fire, and for training spotters for civilian defense.

Fifty different types of planes will be made, and the local schools have been asked to furnish two different sets of these. This work is entirely hand work and requires great care.

Those who submit models which are acceptable to the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy Department will receive a certificate of award from the Bureau.

The quota assigned the state of Pennsylvania is 45,000 planes, or 900 sets of 50 different types, which are desired immediately, so work on the project locally will get under way at once. The smallest model has a wing spread of 5½ inches, and the largest 25 inches, and are to be made from wood, such as white pine, poplar or bass.

Lord Halifax Makes Reply To Nation's Critics

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27—A candid picture of the British war effort was projected today by Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, to counter criticism that "Great Britain leaves the fighting to her friends."

During 1941, he told the American Academy of Political and Social Science, Britain jeopardized the safety of the home front by shipping abroad 9,000 planes and 3,000 tanks. Some of this materiel, he added, played a vital role in the "historic defense" of Moscow.

"I heard it said that Britain sits behind three and a half million bayonets on her island fortress and leaves the fighting to her friends," he asserted. "Two million of those soldiers are home guards whose full-time work is in war industries. The other million and a half have got to defend something like 3,000 miles of coasts and 90,000 square miles inside them."

Lord Halifax said that up to the present "something like 70 per cent" of the Empire's casualties have been borne by the British Isles.

He described the British Isles as "the essential bridgehead for all offensive operations against Germany from the west" and the "source of well over half of the Empire's total war potential."

La Follette Warns That Appropriations Alone Will Not Win War

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Declaring that appropriations alone won't win the war, Senator LaFollette (P), Wis., on Thursday warned the Senate against unnecessary surrender of congressional power by making appropriations which cannot be spent in the near future.

LaFollette's statement was made during discussion of the $32,762,737,900 war bill reported by the appropriations committee.

LaFollette pointed out that appropriations for defense and lend-lease purposes since 1940 total $142,000,000,000.

While Senator McKellar (D), Tenn., said that money is being spent rapidly, LaFollette asserted there was strong indication that a huge backlog of appropriations has been built up.

"I fear the country and congress is being lulled into a condition of complacency by enormous appropriations," said LaFollette.

"Appropriations won't win the war, except as they are translated into arms to defeat our brutal enemies.

"As one who wishes to see the democratic process preserved I want to caution congress against surrender of any more power than is necessary. One power congress does not have to surrender is the appropriating power.

"Congress is unnecessarily placing itself in position where the executive does not have to give an accounting for some time to come."

LaFollette said that in two years of war, the British empire has been able to spend only $35,000,000,000.

Referring to the new lend-lease agreement with Great Britain, LaFollette said it is contemplated that neither Great Britain nor any other country receiving lend-lease aid, approximating $18,000,000,000, will have to repay it.

"I would like to express the hope that some day we will be able to negotiate an instrument as generous to the future generations of this country as to the British empire," said LaFollette.

"If the great British empire is not able to repay lend-lease, how are you going to pry this and greater sums out of future generations of Americans."

Circulate V For Victory Coins In Occupied France

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 27.—German police and military authorities in Occupied France are trying to discover the secret organization responsible for the circulation of thousands of "V" sign coins cut out of two-franc pieces.

Any persons found with one of these coins in his possession will be executed, the Germans have decreed.

Despite this threat, however, the coin is being used all over Occupied France, especially Paris, as a token binding Free Frenchmen together.

The original two-franc bits are machine-cut and by a cunning simplicity of design, the hitsoric words "Liberte, Egalite, Fraternite," are left clearly visible on the coin. On the other side part of the name "Republique francaise" can be seen.

Landing Fields To Be Increased

Auxiliary Landing Fields Near Highways To Extend Across Nation

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 27.—Auxiliary landing fields adjacent to highways soon will dot the countryside from coast to coast under a federal construction program now under way, Lieut. Col. Stedman S. Hanks of the Army Air Corps said Thursday in a speech.

Addressing the 18th annual convention of the Association of Highway Officials of the North Atlantic States, Hanks said the flight "strips" are vital in war-time and should prove extremely useful when peace returns.

"Flight strips are vitally needed to furnish dispersal points for aircraft, to alleviate the crowding of our main air bases and lessen the risk of large-scale bombing losses caused by excessive concentration of aircraft," Hanks asserted.

Will Prove Helpful

He added that such auxiliary fields also will provide hopping-off points for fighter planes defending the nation's coasts.

Half of the $10,000,000 authorized for such construction already has been appropriated, but he advised the public to safeguard the locations of such fields.

Length of the runways will vary from 3,000 to 8,000 feet, depending on the elevation of the ground above sea level and the type of aircraft for which it will be intended. After the war, he added, such strips will prove a boon to commercial aviation and private flying.

"They will provide landing facilities for commercial feeder airlines connecting points not now served by airlines, and safe refuge for planes of all types forced down by weather or mechanical difficulties," Hanks said.

Disheartened By Army Turn Down, Gets Self Jailed

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., Feb. 27—Steve Skoken, disheartened when the army rejected him for bad teeth when he sought to enlist three times in Detroit, Buffalo, and Bradford, was lodged in the city jail on a breaking and entering charge.

Skoken, deciding that he might as well go to jail, kicked in the glass door of a local hardware store last night. Police said he didn't steal anything.

Women Getting Bigger Feet As Result Of War

(International News Service)

LONDON.—The war is producing bigger feet—at least among British women.

Store-keepers find that demands for women's shoes below the size of four are practically non-existent.

This is attributed to the vogue of the low-heeled shoes which tend to broaden the feet and because women are standing longer and walking more than they did before the war.

Members of the A. T. S., W. A. A. F., W. R. N. S, nursing and Civil-Defense units who formerly wore high-heeled shoes for every occasion now find that they need a larger size than they did in peacetime

Siamese Twin Girls Born To Woman In Hospital In East

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Siamese twin girls, weighing nine pounds five ounces and said to be in "excellent" condition, were born on Thursday at St. Vincent's hospital in West New Brighton, Staten Island, to 25-year-old Mrs. Carmine Picciotto.

The twins, joined from chest to abdomen, face each other. Dr Peter Timpone said they have a good chance of surviving and that an operation to disjoin them is being considered but no decision has been reached.

The girl's 29-year-old father is a butcher at West New Brighton. They are Picciotto's only children, a previous child having died shortly after birth about a year ago.

Induction Period Changes Are Made

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27—Pennsylvania's 22 local draft boards were notified today that the nomal 10 to 30-day period between a prospective selectee's final examination and induction into the army will be abolished after March 14.

Prospective selectees ordered to report for final psysical examinations in calls to be sent out within the next two or three weeks will not be examined before April 1, permitting them 10 days or more to wind up their affairs before entering the service.

The change in regulations means that registrants may be ordered to report for induction the same day they pass final physical examinations. However, in cases where difficulty would result from immediate induction, furloughs would be granted.

Largest Mercury Lamp In World Now Completed

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND. — The largest and most powerful mercury lamp in the world, hailed by lighting experts as a distinct contribution to speeding up defense industries, has been completed at Nela Park laboratories it was announced by General Electric's Lamp Department.

Engineers contend the "AH-9" 3,000-watt mercury lamp will be a boon to the lighting of steel mills, foundaries, erecting shops, and other large areas where lofty mounting heights of luminaries are required.

Tests have shown that the "AH-9" is a "natural" wherever accurate human seeing is required, and that it can provide more than 50 footcandles of light evenly over the working plane. The present average factory lighting level is less than 10 footcandles.

Shoot Down 27 Jap Planes Over Burning City

(International News Service)

MANDALAY, Feb. 27.—American volunteer and British flyers shot down at least 27 Japanese planes Thursday over Rangoon as the largest enemy air armada of the war sought to deliver a knockout blow to the burning city.

The raid was a definite failure.

In addition to the 27 bombers and fighters known to have been shot out of the skies, another seven "probables" were claimed.

(Earlier, the all-India radio announced the destruction of 21 planes over Rangoon and a successful raid on an enemy air base in Thailand where two bombers were shot down and two fighters destroyed on the ground.)

ASTUTE BUSINESS MAN

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Tex.—Helmut Wolfe is only 13, but he should be quite a business man when he grows up. Observing that the tire shortage has cut down on store deliveries and impelled many housewives to bring home their own purchases, Helmut instituted a delivery service. He totes his parcels in a trailer attached to the back of his bicycle, at an average price of 15 cents per trip.

Joan Fontaine And Gary Cooper Given Year's Movie Awards

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Joan Fontaine and Gary Cooper today were presented Hollywood's most coveted awards—gold-plated "Oscars"—for best screen performances during the past year.

"How Green Was My Valley" (20th Century-Fox) was voted the outstanding picture of 1941.

Miss Fontaine received her award for her performance in "Suspicion" (RKO) and Cooper for his interpretation of the American hero, Sergeant York, in the Warner Bros. picture of the same name.

Among others, Miss Fontaine, who was nominated for an award last year, won over her actress-sister, Olivia de Haviland, nominated for her performance in "Hold Back the Dawn".

Best Supporting Roles

For the best performance by an actress in a supporting role Mary Astor received an Oscar for her work in "The Great Lie".

Donald Crisp was presented an award for the best performance by an actor in a supporting role for "How Green Was My Valley".

John Ford, now a lieutenant commander in the navy, won his third Oscar for his description of 'How Green Was My Valley". Ford, on active naval duty, was not present to receive his award.

The Irving G Thalberg memorial award was presented Walt Disney, who produced the cartoon creations "Fantasia" and "Dumbo" during the year. The prize is given annually for significant contributions to the film industry.

The traditional gold statuettes were presented winners, voted by 10,000 members of the film industry, at the 14th annual Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences dinner.

Ginger Rogers, 1941 winner, presented the Oscars to Miss Fontaine and Miss Astor. Lieut. Jimmy Stewart, award winner who left his film career for army duty, presented the prizes to Cooper and Crisp.

Winning her first academy award proved too much for Joan Fontaine. She wept when Miss Rogers handed her the award for best actress of the year.

Join In Tears

When Miss Fontaine reached the platform, Miss Rogers, who wept last year, joined in a few tears.

Both Cooper and Stewart, noted for their bashful roles on the screen, fumbled the statuette and almost sent it crashing on the table during the presentation for the male acting honors.

Because of the war, the dinner this year was devoid of the glitter and fanfare which have featured filmdom's annual event in past years.

Fifteen hundred film notables paid $11 each, instead of the peacetime tariff of $25, to attend the first wartime academy dinner.

Women wore no jewels or expensive evening gowns. Conservative dress was the keynote,. Men wore business suits or uniforms, except for one newspaperman who wore the traditional tuxedo.

Other Awards

Other awards were:

For the best original screen play: Herman J. Mankiewicz and Orson Welles for "Citizen Kane".

Best written screen play: Sidney Buchman and Seton I. Miller for "Here Comes Mr. Jordan".

Best original motion picture story: Harry Segall for "Here Comes Mr. Jordan".

Best song—"The Last Time I Saw Paris" from "Lady Be Good".

Best scoring of a dramatic picture—"All That Money Can Buy."

Best scoring of a musical picture—"Dumbo."

Best achievement in film editing—William Holmes for "Sergeant York."

Best achievement for special effects—Farciot Edouart, Gordon Jennings and Louis Mesenkop for "I Wanted Wings".

Best achievement in art direction, black and white film—Richard Day and Nathan Juran for "How Green Was My Valley".

Best achievement in art direction, color film—Cedric Gibbons for "Blossoms in the Dust".

Best achievement in sound recording—Jack Whitney for "That Hamilton Woman".

British Navy Reports One Of Its Toughest Jobs Is Convoying Ships To Russia

(International News Service)

LONDON.—One of the toughest jobs performed today by the British Navy is the convoying of vital war munitions and equipment to the Russian Arctic ports.

Setting out from northern British ports for a rendezvous with heavily laden English and Russian freighters, the cruisers and destroyers so engaged have become known here as "the shepherds of the arctic lifeline."

During almost the entire voyage the convoys remain in darkness. In these latitudes at this time of the year the sun is seen for less than an hour a day.

Cold Is Intense

Cold—notoriously the worlds worst—deepens as the convoys zig-zag north and northeast around the top of Norway. As much as 68 degrees of frost have been recorded on the ships' instruments as the supplies near port.

The metal of the upper decks and on the guns "burn" to the touch.

Seamen in this unenviable work are especially clothed with hooded coats lined with heavy sheeps' wool. They receive special food and special rum rations to help fortify them against the intense cold.

With the coming of spring, new dangers are added to their already peril-fraught trip. Ice flows break loose from northern barriers and stream southward; the water warms sufficiently to allow enemy submarines to operate there; and the weather clears so that long-range German bombers based in northern Norway can patrol far out over the convoy routes.

Make Plans To Develop Amazon River Basin

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Representing an important step in the plans for economic mobilization of the American Republics, the United States and Brazil are about to conclude an agreement for joint development of the Amazon river basin.

The agreement calls for establishment of an Amazon river basin development corporation which will be financed by the American government to the extent of approximately $20,000,000.

American technical experts also will be used in the development work, which is designed to stimulate the production of essential raw materials, including rubber, tropical oils, quinine and other chemicals.

Final details of the agreement are now being worked out between Brazilian Finance Minister Souza Costa and officials of the state department and the federal loan agency. An announcement concerning conclusion of the agreement is expected within a few days.

The agreement is a direct result of the Pan-American defense conference at Rio De Janeiro. At that conference, both Brazil and the United States signed a resolution recommending that, "as a practical expression of continental solidarity, an economic mobilization of the American Republics be effected."

The resolution also urged the conclusion of bilateral or multilateral agreements to stimulate production of essential materials.

Since his arrival here shortly after the Rio conference, Souza Costa has discussed other measure to strengthen the bonds of economic unity between this country and Brazil.

These measures envisage a general expansion of trade between the two countries on a liberal tariff basis, both during and after this war.

An agreement covering some of them also is expected to be reached before the Brazilian finance minister concludes his mission.

TWO ENCIRCLED GERMAN ARMIES FACE SURRENDER

Kalinin, northwest of Moscow, this announcement stated, 560 enemy soldiers were "annihilated."

Moscow radio said German defenders of the town of "N" were cut off by the Russian advance and were being slaughtered in fierce fighting. It was believed "N" may be Novgorod, a strategic rail center on the north shore of Lake Ilmen 100 miles southeast of Leningrad.

On one section of the Kalinin front, the Moscow radio reported, 5,400 Germans were killed, while three enemy regiments were annihilated and two railway stations captured on the southern front.

Continue Advance

The midnight communique likewise told of continuing Russian successes. It said:

"Breaking enemy resistance, Soviet forces continued to advance and occupied several villages.

"Thirty-four enemy planes were destroyed on Feb. 24 instead of 20 previously reported.

"On Feb. 25, 17 enemy planes were shot down in combat and four were destroyed on the ground while the Soviets lost five."

The Moscow radio account told of fierce fighting around the center of "N" and said the Nazi avenue of retreat there had been cut off and that the Germans suffered 1,400 casualties in a single day.

Annihilate Nazis

It added the Germans refused to surrender "and are now being annihilated by Soviet guard detachments despite the fact that the Germans rushed up reserves."

Moscow radio also stated that large numbers of Russian planes and guns were reaching the northwestern front, where the Soviet offensive was declared to be "gathering momentum."

At Rzhev, it was indicated, a German army corps of some 96,000 men was reported fighting desperately to break out of a Soviet encirclement ring. Simultaneously, in the Staraya Russa area, the German 16th army was declared to be in a similar predicament as the Russian encircling maneuver developed satisfactorily and increasing numbers of Nazis were rounded up and disposed of. Previous accounts said German casualties in this battle already had exceeded 12,000 men.

It is estimated that in large cities more than 90 per cent of the commercial business is done by checks and drafts; less than 10 per cent being done with cash.

Japanese Medals Will Be Used To Make A Torpedo

(International News Service)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Japan will receive some nice scrap metal from the United States.

This itme, it will be medals which the Nippon government vested upon eight Veterans of Foreign Wars members.

The medals will go into a torpedo, and all the veterans were hoping for a bulls-eye on the Jap target.

John J. Skillman, Miami undertaker, one of the eight VFW members who received the medals, started the drive. He telephoned Rep. James E. Van Zandt of Pennsylvania, who also received one of the Tokyo medals. They decided to call the others, have the Naval Ordnance department mold their medals into their most fitting form, and see that the torpedo head is placed aboard some American vessel operating in the Pacific.

JAP FLIERS FAIL IN AIR OFFENSIVE AGAINST RANGOON

what British newspapers now are calling a "miniature battle of Britain."

British and American pilots operating over the Rangoon area claimed a total of 60 Japanese planes shot down for certain and numerous "probables" as their score for Wednesday and Thursday.

At the same time, American volunteer airmen operating over Chinese, Burmese and Thailand territory claimed 34 more planes shot down as "certainties"—plus several "probables."

This brought the number of Japanese planes certainly shot down in two days to 94 in the Burma-Thailand region.

Of the 60 claimed by American and R. A. F. sky fighters, at least 27 and probably 34 were bagged in a fierce combat near Rangoon yesterday.

Back-To-Wall Defense

Military authorities in London said that the relative pause is still continuing on the Burma land front, with the Japanese moving northward along the east bank of the Sittang river, apparently in an attempt to outflank the British troops to the left.

A last-minute Reuters (British) disptach from Rangoon said substantial Imperial forces had taken up positions along the Sittang river for a "final, back-to-the-wall defense of the capital."

This report added the Japanese were expected hourly to launch a "tremendous assault" in a bid to overcome the last natural barrier between themselves and the Burma road.

lines held by MacArthur against all Japanese attacks during the past month.

The communique disclosed however that the Japanese are striking back at MacArthur's forces with light air and artillery attacks.

The latest dispatches also stated that for some unknown reason the Japanese have temporarily ceased their siege of four American-held forts in Manila Bay.

Outcome of MacArthur's surprising offensive remains in doubt however in view of the fact that the defenders apparently still have not penetrated the enemy's main positions.

Day's Communique

Following is the text of the war department's 126th communique:

"Philippine Theater — Fighting continues on the Bataan front with light forces engaged on both sides.

"Gen MacArthur's troops are holding advance positions which represent gains of from one to eight kilometers along the entire front during the past 48 hours.

"The greatest advance was made on the right of the line north of Pilar.

"Our troops are being subjected to a relatively light enemy air and artillery attack.

"There has been no firing on our fortifications from enemy artillery positions on the Cavite shore for several days.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

Volunteer Gets In Navy On His Fifth Attempt

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—His fifth attempt to volunteer for service in the Navy finally won success for 17-year-old Leland H. McMahon of Casey, Ill.

McMahon came to the navy recruiting office in St. Louis a year ago, when he was still 16. He was told he was too young. He waited until his seventeenth birthday, and then appeared again at the recruiting office. Navy doctors told him he had a ruptured ear drum.

McMahon returned later with his ear in good condition. He was turned down because of bad teeth. He had several teeth filled and came back to the recruiting office. Again the doctors told him his teeth were bad. So, McMahon had four more teeth filled, and returned to the recruiting office for the fifth time, and was passed by the doctors.

However, he was told that as soon as he reached a training station he would have to report to the hospital—to have his tonsils removed.

Orders Bible Be 're-translated' Into Chinese

(International News Service)

BOSTON—Chiang Kai-Shek, generalissimo of China who first became a Christian so he might marry the Wellesley-educated Mei-ling Soong and now observes a half-hour of religious meditation every morning, wants the Bible "re-translated" into Chinese.

Dr. George W. Sheppard, a missionary who was personal advisor to Chiang for five years, says the Chinese leader believes Christianity was originally an Oriental religion with foundations in the Far East. Orientals, he thinks, are more capable of understanding its precepts than Occidentals.

In the translation that Chiang has ordered, the history of China will run in parallel columns, patterned in the Hebrew fashion.

Dr. Sheppard believes that the conversion of their "strong man" will induce a widespread adoption of Christianity among Chinese after the war.

Men Can Enlist For Limited Marine Service

Men who are not ex-service men can now enlist in the limited service Marine Corps as guards in different naval shore establishments, Staff Sergt. John L. Dean announced today.

These men, who have dependents, will receive $34.50 a month. They will be sent to Parris Island, S. C., for six weeks of training, after which they will relieve younger marines doing guard duty within the fourth naval district.

Men applying must have excellent records within the community and be of high standard, Dean said.

Sergeant Dean has received a number of letters from men who enlisted through the New Castle station. Some of the letters are from Private Pander, Private Mariotti, Private O'Connell and Private Mundo.

COLLEGE WEATHER COURSE

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—A weather course, designed among other things to aid them in accurately judging the landing places of parachute troops drifting downward, has been offered students of the Pennsylvania State College. Students enrolled in the courses can gain knowledge of defenses against chemical warfare, of fire-fighting and airplane spotting, Dr. Hans Neuberger, a faculty member, said.

PLANE ATTACKS FEATURE BATTLE OF EAST INDIES

coast of Sumba Island, west of Timor, and Bima on nearby Sumbawa, but caused only slight damage.

Dutch Bomb Palembang

The Dutch countered these thrusts and hampered Jap activity over Java by once again bombing Palembang, the Jap-occupied Sumatra oil center. A number of fires were caused by this Dutch attack.

Dutch planes also attacked concentrations of enemy ships near Banka, off the eastern coast of Sumatra. Banka was reported occupied by the Japanese yesterday.

One of the Netherlands Indies aircraft was damaged by "strong anti-aircraft fire," the communique said, but nevertheless safely reached one of the Dutch air bases in Java.

Ten Japanese naval "zero" fighters attacked the Dutch after the Banka engagement. One Jap plane was shot down.

No losses were reported by the Netherlands Indies high command.

Dutch Communique

The Dutch communique, distributed by Aneta news agency, said:

"Yesterday our bombers carried out attacks on military objectives near Palembang. Several fires were started. It was observed that oil installations near Palembang still are burning. All our aircraft returned safely from this mission.

"Another bombing attack was carried out on enemy concentrations of ships near Banka. The results could not be observed. One of our aircraft was damaged by strong anti-aircraft fire but nevertheless reached one of our bases in Java.

"After carrying out the attack our planes were attacked by some ten navy "zero" fighters. During the ensuing battle one "zero" probably was shot down.

Enemy Activity Less

"Enemy air activity over Java was less than on previous days. The only air-attack reported was directed against Surabaya where a group of nine bombers dropped many bombs which all fell into the sea. Our fighters soon drove the enemy away.

"Japanese fighters machine gunned Waingapau on the north coast of Sumba without causing any damage and also Bima, on the north coast of Sumba-Wau, where only slight damage was done.'

The new aerial activity came after American submarines had torpedoed four and perhaps five Japanese ships, including two troop transports.

Meanwhile, Aneta said nothing was known of any new attack by United States "flying fortess" bombers on Jap ships concentrated off Bali.

Thousands Of Allies

Lieut. Gen. Hein Ter Poorten, commander-in-chief of the Netherlands Indies armed services in a broadcast last night urged the American, British and Australian soldiers, "here in many thousands—to fight like wildcats and fight like hell."

Addressing Dutch, United Nations and Indonesian troops, Gen. Ter Poorten pointed out that while there was perhaps no reason for too much optimism, there was still no reason for pessimism.

"The enemy, at the end of long lines of communication, is desperately seeking food and oil," he said.

"Nowhere has the Japanese new order succeeded in getting the products they so badly need. Everywhere the Japanese go hungry amid smoking ruins.

"I know your gallant records, and I know I can rely on you Americans, Australians and British to fight equally gallantly now alongside us Dutch."

LABOR POLICY FOR WAR IS DEMAND

production. Complete details of the proposals were not revealed pending Mr. Roosevelt's consideration.

Demands Perkins Quit

Congress, meanwhile, heard demands by Sen. Byrd (D) Va., that Secretary of Labor Perkins resign and that "we form a definite labor policy for the duration." At the same time House leaders sought parliamentary grounds to prevent the whole labor matter coming to the floor for a showdown fight.

Rep. Smith (D) Va., gave notice that he will offer as an amendment to the so-called "second war powers bill" a proposal that all laws relating to an eight hour day or a 40 hour week be abolished during the war.

In its present mood, with members received many letters demanding that all labor disputes be ended, leaders fear that the Smith amendments will provide a bitter debate leading to possible disunity on the labor issue.

For that reason, conferences were being held to see if the amendment can be thrown out on a point of order on the grounds that it is not germane to the bill and thus be kept from floor debate.

Meantime, Sen. Connally (D) Tex., declared that in the near future he plans to seek action on the Senate floor on his bill to permit government seizure of strike-bound plants.

Byrd, in a lengthy floor speech, attacked Miss Perkins and demanded that the Senate act on House approved anti-strike bills which have been pigeon-holed by the labor committee.

The Smith amendment to the war powers bill would suspend a total of 17 federal acts, including provisions of the wage-hour law, and others, all of which relate to hours of work and overtime pay for hours in excess.

SEEKS WAR REVENGE

(International News Service)

CARLISLE, Pa.—Raymond Dwight Burton, 39, veteran of World War I, is seeking to get back into service to avenge the death of his 19-year-old brother, Donald, at Pearl Harbor.

Burton, who served as a machine gunner with the famed Rainbow Division in 1918, was rejected when he tried to enlist in the army. He said he ran away from home and joined the army at the age of 14. He saw service in major engagements when only 16.

against the communications of the Germans besieging Leningrad that the greatest success has been achieved.

South of Lake Ilmen at Staraya Russa, the German army has been practically annihilated, leaving 12,000 dead behind. The Russian thrust is moving forward. If the thrust can be continued toward Pskov, the besiegers will be limited to one supply line north of Lake Peipus and their position will become precarious.

In the Smolensk area, Vyazma is almost gone and the great German salient at Rzhev is being slowly but surely cut off by Russian assaults towards Vitebsk. Here we can expect some startling news in a very few days.

(The Russians announced yesterday that the German 16th Army, comprising 96,000 men, had been completely encircled at Rzhev.)

Advance Continues

South of Kharkov, Marshal Timoshenko has continued his advance toward Dniepropetrovsk, fighting his way almost foot by foot. We may hope for another announcement, such as the one about Starava Russa, when his attacks have developed.

Generally speaking, the long German defenses are being beaten down and the Russian attacks are nearing a decision. A mob of German reserves are being thrown into the fighting, without saving any of the threatened positions. The German jumping-off positions for a spring offensive, as planned by Hitler, already have been upset. It is certain he has been forced to throw in many troops he intended to use in this offensive.

In Burma, the effect of the surrender of Singapore hasn't been long in coming. We now are back to the last river defense, forty miles east of Rangoon, Japanese pressure is increasing and the position of the great port certainly is critical.

Fight Goes On

With command of the sea in Japanese hands, we may expect more landings here should the port fall. But the enemy faces terribly difficult country in the north towards Mandalay, if he again advances.

The grim fight in Java goes on. Our planes and ships have managed to take a great toll of Japanese transports and naval craft. It is the beginning of our offensive in the Pacific.

Every day brings us more strength and there are signs that the Japanese are hard put for ships. But we are not out of trouble in the Pacific yet. The immense power of the main Japanese fleet still is in reserve.

We cannot blind ourselves to the fact that more attacks may be expected from totally new directions, in Australia or Ceylon, perhaps, we shall want grim determination to hold on to what we still have, and courage to take the offensive whenever and wherever we can.

The example of General MacArthur and his gallant troops should hearten everyone. He has achieved the apparently impossible through indomitable resolution.

Let us be worthy of his fine defense and take the offensive to make the most of the chance he has given us.

In 1813 the town had a blackout when the British came up the bay. All lights in the town were extinguished. Lantrens were hung on the tops of trees, causing gunners to overshoot their marks and saving the town from damage.

Tells Of Trip With Convoy

Reporter Aboard Ship Convoyed By U. S. Navy Says Job Well Done

By WILLIAM W. WADE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, (Delayed)—The United States Navy has strength in the Atlantic—strength enough to fight the submarine menace and deliver the goods to America's vital island bases—and today it is using its strength for just such a purpose.

I had a port-hole view of the navy's power as I travelled from the United States to Iceland aboard a ship escorted by a strong force of naval units. I left on one jittery day after naval officials announced a new flurry of U-boat raids in the Atlantic.

The jitters vanished, however, when we met our escort outside the harbor. We took our position among the silent, commanding guns of the navy as a feeble sun attempted futilely to define the gray of the sea from the gray of the sky.

Somber Seascape

It was a somber seascape—dotting destroyers and patrolling planes—but a comforting one. It left no doubt that Uncle Sam was ready to deal with Mr. Submarine on this trip.

All the strength assembled at the convoy's rendezvous did not stay with our ship throughout the voyage. But there was always enough in view from porthole and deck to signify that the navy meant business.

It did not take long for the navy to demonstrate that it did mean business.

One day early in the voyage someone, somewhere in the convoy spotted a mysterious shadow.

Immediately a destroyer heeled over and raced for the spot, laying down a protecting smoke screen for nearby ships. Suddenly our vessel lurched as though it had hit an underwater reef. It luched again, twice in succession.

Bombs Are Dropped

The destroyer had dumped depth charges over the mysterious shadow and the shadow ceased to be a menace.

Whether or not this action involved a submarine remains a naval secret, of course, but the speedy performance of the destroyer was ample proof that alert forces patrol the Atlantic, that the toll taken by Hitler's U-boats is being whittled down.

The alertness not only made my voyage a safe one, but it insures safe delivery of supplies and troops to America's island outposts, themselves vital weapons in the battle of the Atlantic.

War Contracts For Meadville

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Talon fastener plants at Meadville have received war contracts for items which can be made on their equipment, and substitutes are being used for copper in making fasteners.

This was revealed by Sidney Hillman, labor director, war production board, in an announcement that award of war contracts had made it possible to recommend suspension of the special contract preference granted last fall to Meadville and several similar small industrial communities outside the state.

The acute "priority unemployment," which caused the war production board to certify the situation in Meadville and several similar communities for special treatment, including an allowance of up to 15 per cent in prices on war contracts, is being alleviated by the large orders now being placed, Mr. Hillman said.

London Forces Hunting Killer

Man Sought Is Believed To Have Deserted From Canadian Forces

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Police armed with submachine guns, British army reserves and R. A. F. planes joined today in combing the southwestern English countryside for a killer believed to have deserted from Canadian army forces.

The killer, who allegedly broke out of a guard-house and stole a sergeant-major's pistol, was said to have slain one policeman and seriously wounded a second.

More than 1,000 armed Canadian soldiers and hundreds of armed police later joined in the search. They were ordered to "shoot at sight".

A unique combination of R. A. F. "spotters" equipped with powerful field glasses and bloodhounds on the ground joined in the search today.

A cordon of police from four counties and the farmed scotland yard detectives searched the countryside combing wooded areas around Bognorregis, Sussex with utmost thoroughness.

The fugitive was said to be armed with 700 rounds of ammunition as well as the stolen revolver.

Police were seeking Private J. W. Moore, 20, of the Canadian Highland Light infantry, in connection with the case.

According to police, the killer took refuge in a private home in suburban Aldwick shortly after stealing the pistol and ammuniton of a Canadian sergeant major. When police sergeant William J. Alvis and constable Frederick Fuller opened the door in the course of a house-to-house search, they were shot.

Fuller was critically wounded and Alvis killed instantly by the fusillade of gunfire.

Four R. A. F. planes joined in the search for the killer today. All roads in the vicinity were blockaded, and all motorists stopped for questioning.

Senator Charges Landis Has Broken Promises

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Accusing Civilian Defense Director James Landis of "misleading" him, Senator McKellar (D), Tenn., charged today that the O.C.D. head has broken his promise to eliminate "frills and furbelows" in civilian defense, and is now spending money for entertainment in violation of law.

Landis, who testified before the joint congressional economy committee, denied McKellar's assertion.

The name of Melvyn Douglas, movie star, was injected into the hearings when Landis explained that as head O.C.D. art consultant the movie actor seeks to provide talent for government agencies.

McKellar asserted that Douglas was being employed for entertainment purposes in violation of a promise.

"He is not being paid as an entertainer," replied Landis. "He is being paid to chanel talent into government service."

Douglas, he said, receives no compensation but is entitled to transportation costs and $10 a day subsistence while working.

Senator Byrd (D), Va., chairman, brought out that Daniel Lang, former free lance newspaper writer is employed to travel about the country "digging up" human interest stories on O.C.D. activities.

"Is this defense?" asked Senator Byrd.

"I think it might be," replied Landis, "because getting across to cities what other cities are doing is an important job."

"I think you are violating the law," McKellar said. "The appropriation bill recently passed provided you should not carry on instruction, dancing and entertainment. This certainly is public entertainment."

"I understand the limitation applied only to part of the fund," said Landis.

"Then you are using other funds to carry on activities congress said that you could not carry on by the recent law," said McKellar.

"In a sense that is right," said Landis.

McKellar asserted that Landis had promised during recent hearings that he would abolish educational and entertainment activities and thus misled him, but Landis denied this accusation.

"You have two funds and you are indirectly evading congress by spending money for prohibited activities," exclaimed McKellar.

"Surely," replied Landis, "you wouldn't want us to avoid the prime job of performing educational service."

WILLIAM G. McCUNE

PHILIP W. DICKSON

Safety on the job and in the home was discussed Thursday evening at a dinner and safety rally for Bell Telephone company workers, held in the Cathedral. About 100 attended.

A feature of the rally was the enrollment in the company's 100,000 Miles club of Philip W. Dickson, 221 Venango street, Mercer, a telephone and central office repairman, and William G. McCune, 212 Grandview avenue, New Castle, a cable splicer. They have completed 10 years of safe driving in company cars. Special awards were given to a group of club members who added another year, 1941, to their long safe-driving records.

J. Frank Cox, vice president and general manager of the Bell Telephone company, presented certificates of membership and gold-stamped wallets to Dickson and McCune and handed special awards to other members who have extended their safety records. Mr. Cox spoke on the company's general accident prevention program.

Kenneth H. Beck, district plant superintendent, was chairman of the meeting and discussed the safety performance of Bell employes in this section.

Brief addresses, all dealing with specific phases of the safety program, were made by David R. Ingalls, general plant manager; Clarence E. Fay, division plant superintendent, and by Charles W. Wise, division construction superintendent. Others present included Paul J. Baldwin, district manager; Herbert V. Hurlbrink, district traffic superintendent; Adrian D. Supple, manager for the Bell company at New Castle, and Richard H. Brautigam, manager at Sharon.

100,000 Milers

The 100,000 Milers present at the rally and the number of years each has been driving safely, include:

Conscientious Objector's Claim Has Been Upheld

Ellwood City Man Ordered To Report To Camp For Objectors And Will Work There

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 27.—Ellwood City's first conscientious objector, Arthur Milton Stevenson, of 430 Pittsburgh Circle, whose claim as such has been upheld by the United States district attorney's office, will soon be on his way to a camp for conscientious objectors, where he will be put to work on a task of national importance, it was stated at the office of local board No. 1 of the county of Lawrence, here, today.

Mr. Stevenson's claim as a conscientious objector was at first denied by the local board, who placed him in Class 1A. He took his case to the appeal board, which in turn upheld the local board, and an investigation was conducted by the F.B.I., after which he was given a hearing by the U. Defense Council Meets Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 27—The Ellwood City Civilian Defense Council found out last night that Ellwood City was far in advance of any other city or borough in the county and Western Pennsylvania.

At a meeting of the Lawrence County Civilian Defense Council held in New Castle last night it was revealed that the entire planning committee of the county does not have a single Ellwood City person on it. The meeting last night was to organize Defense Councils in each political sub-division something which was done in Ellwood City on December 10th.

The Executive Committee of the local Civilian Defense Council is ready to function with the exception of being connected with the county by telephone for Air-Raid cautions.

Arrangements have been completed for the installation of the private telephone but the County line has not been taken care of by the Lawrence County Council.

Local citizens can well be proud of the 975 persons who have so quickly and efficiently set up every civilian defense department here in Ellwood City. Cooperation and a business like attitude have made the local council a model for other boroughs and cities to follow.

Strike Affects War Program

Thirteen Hundred Men Idle In Dispute In Plant In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27.—Industrial Pittsburgh's first serious labor dispute since the beginning of the war threatened today to hurt President Roosevelt's pledge of "uninterrupted production" until victory is won.

With operations at the Crucible Steel Company's La Belle works on the North Side halted and 1,300 men idle, Federal Mediator Charles Ward met with both company officials and representatives of the CIO-Steel Workers organizing committee in a rapid-fire attempt to settle the controversy.

Company officials termed the work stoppage a strike and an out-and-out violation of contract, while union leaders countered with claims that it was a "lockout."

The plant has been devoting its entire output to wartime production.

Grievances Cited

James Goney, SWOC sub-district director, explained that the dispute involved seven grievances, affecting about 100 men, which have been pending for several months. He said that when some of the workers refused to work until the company took action on the grievances, they were ordered from the plant.

Other strikes and threatened strikes hampered production in Pittsburgh at the same time.

The P. Wall and Company plant on the North Side was closed down by a dispute of an undisclosed nature, affecting about 300 men.

War department officals asked Mediator Ward to look into a threatened strike at nearby Oakmont where a building trades jurisdictional dispute threatened to halt construction of a new defense plant being erected by the Scaife Steel Company.

France Intends To Be Neutral

U. S. Given Formal Assurances That France Will Stay Neutral

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—France, it was learned on high authority today, has given the United States new formal assurances that it intends to remain neutral in the war between this country and the Axis.

The assurances have been given by the vichy government in reply to the strong American representations concerning French aid to the Axis forces in Libya.

Vichy furthermore has promised not to permit the shipment of any more trucks from French territory to Italian Tripoli.

Shipment of 50 Italian trucks aboard French vessels from Toulon to Tunisia, French North Africa, and thence to Tripoli, was one of the instances of French aid to the Axis forces against which this government made sharp representations.

Vichy admitted shipment of the trucks but insisted they were delivery and not military venicles. It asserted they could not, therefore, be classified as military supplies, and pointed out that the American government itself took this position when Japan complained against the shipment of American delivery trucks to China via Haiphong, French Indo-China, before the outbreak of the Pacific war.

The State department, however, remained adamant in its objection to the shipment of trucks from France to the Libyan forces of German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel. As a result, Vichy has agreed not to permit the transportation of any more trucks.

Brice Holds Gorgas For Court Trial

Lengthy Motor Police Fatality Inquiry Brings Hearing Thursday

John Gorgas, Wampum,R . D. 1, was given a hearing last night before Alderman James C. Brice, North Jefferson street, on a State Motor police charge that he had failed to stop and render assistance after being involved in an auto accident at Park Gate, December 25, 1940. According to the police, Gorgas' auto struck and fatally injured Frank Bellone of Park Gate. Gorgas pleaced not guilty.

State Motor police who have been searching for 14 months for a "break" on the case, produced several witnesses at last night's hearing, all of whom reportedly were in Gorgas' car at the time of the reported accident.

Lucy and Anna Szimkawich, New Castle, R. D. 1, and Louis Morrow, Wampum, R. D. 1, reportedly were with Gorgas, the former occuping the front seat, the latter two, the rear seat.

According to testimony, Lucy saw a man on the road and told Gorgas to stop the car but he did not. Anna reportedly testified she heard Lucy tell Gorgas this. They also testified, it was reported, they heard the bump when the car hit.

Bellone after being found about three a. m. Christmas morning was taken to an Ellwood City physician's office, where the doctor pronounced him dead.

Select Colleges For Air Training

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and St. Mary's college, Moraga, Calif., today were selected by the navy for its vast air pilot training program.

The schools are to serve as induction centers for the pre-flight training routine. The University of Georgia, Athens, Ga., and the University of Iowa, Iowa City, previously were selected for the same purpose.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox in announcing designation of North Carolina and St. Mary's, said that initial steps to launch the pilot training program have been completed.

The schools will house all of the embryonic naval pilots during their three-month preliminary training routine. The navy expects to train about 2,500 aviation cadets each month.

War Time Proves Difficult For Dairy Farmers

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Feb. 28.—An interesting topic of discussion at the meeting of the Mercer County Agricultural Extension association yesterday at Mercer was adoption of war time on the farm.

Farm workers have been able to change their schedules to the new time, but they have experienced considerable difficulty in getting cows to permit milking an hour earlier.

It was agreed by farmers that the cows will have to be adapted to the change gradually.

The war time will be particularly inconvenient on the farm during harvest time. Farmers say they will have to interrupt hay and grain harvesting in the middle of the afternoon to milk, since the cows will "give" best only at regular intervals.

Inquiry Service Of Red Cross Goes To Enemy Countries

Relatives Can Contact People In Occupied Lands And Also Men In Active Service

The Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross is now able through its Home Service department and the Inquiry and Information Service of the National Red Cross to communicate with enemy occupied countries.

Any individuals or families living in Lawrence county who have relatives living in any enemy occupied country such as Italy, may communicate with their family through the Red Cross Inquiry Service.

Parents of boys in active service either in the United States or outside of the country, desiring to communicate with the boys and unable to do so through normal channels, may avail themselves of the Red Cross inquiry service.

Special forms have been made available to the local chapter by the National Inquiry and Information department. People desiring to avail themselves of this privilege must not telephone the chapter. All inquiries are of a personal nature and must be handled by a personal call at the chapter office. Due to the heavy traffic on the chapter's switchboard, Miss Fulton, director of home service, hopes that all parents and relatives will abide by the suggestion of the chapter and not call in regarding this service.

There is no charge whatsoever for contacting relatives in enemy occupied countries nor is there a charge made for the inquiry service used to contact boys in active service in the army or navy.

Governor James Appeals Directly To Legislators

Asks Members To Uphold Requests For Special War Powers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Gov. Arthur H. James today appealed directly to members of the general assembly to uphold his request for new war powers and enact legislation authorizing the chief executive to suspend or modify existing laws during the emergency upon the recommendations of the state defense council.

The unusual but not unprecedented step came in the form of a letter sent to each of the 258 legislators in an apparent attempt to head off the threatened defeat of an administration bill which is now in the senate state government committee. A Republican caucus is slated to consider its fate on Monday.

The governor suggested to the legislators, who are due to reconvene at Harrisburg Monday following a week-end recess, a possible revision in the bill which would be acceptable to him.

If limitation of the defense council's authority to recommend law changes "is felt to be essential," then, said the governor, "I can only suggest . . . it be on the basis of the subject matters over which the state council of defense already has been given authority under the statutes." In the governor's own words, this would cover a "somewhat exhaustive list of war time activities."

In a "brief statement" of seven pages, the governor went to great lengths to explain his position.

"So much interest, and I may say controversy and misunderstanding, has been aroused by a suggestion which I made to the general assembly, that I wish to take this means of outlining to you my views on the subject," he wrote.

"I refer to my proposal," he continued, "that, for a limited period during the war emergency, and subject to certain very definite restrictions, there be given to the state council of defense authority to suspend or modify such Pennsylvania statutes as interfere with all-out prosecution of war and defense."

Only For Year

The grant of authority would be only for this calendar year, with all suspensions and modifications to die automatically 60 days after the opening of the regular session next January.

"This touches on a question which requires prompt action," wrote Governor James. "The day of disaster must not find Pennsylvania with her nose buried in law books. To my mind the proposal is neither so radical nor so completely unprecedented as some of the first reaction to it might indicate. I believe that the suggestion can be shown to be completely in line, not only with the constitution, but also with existing programs and prior policies."

He pointed to the "council of safety" established by the general assembly in 1777 as setting a precedent for his requestion action. "In general," he stated, "my suggestion is along similar lines."

The legislation he requested was introduced on the basis of the last four words of Section 12 of Article 1 of the state constitution, said the governor, which reads: "No power of suspending laws shall be exercised unless by the legislature or by its authority."

"I know of no group which, by personnel, by authority and by performance, is more qualified and in better position to meet and master the arduous problems which may be created by the war," said the governor of the defense council. Created in March 1941, 8 of its 11 members are elective officials.

A continuous legislative session would be "slow and unwieldy," wrote the governor, and creation of a legislative council would be "a most serious reflection" upon the defense council. He was also opposed, he stated, to Democratic house suggestions that "we list the specific statutes which might require suspension or modification" on the ground that "it is impossible to predict the future."

BERRY SCHOOLS FOUNDER DIES

"Matriarch Of Mountain Schools" In Georgia Is Taken By Death

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 27—Seventy-five-year-old Martha Berry, known as "matriarch of the mountain schools," died today in an Atlanta hosptial after a long illness.

She was founder and director of the famous Berry schools for boys and girls near Rome, Ga.

She was admitted to the hosptial last August after several months of failing health.

Her death ended a career which saw a noted educational institution rise from the dreams of a young socialite who brushed aside the opposition of family and friends to stake her inheritance on the task of providing educational opportunity for the poor children of the mountains.

Crowning her tireless efforts—even more than do the many honorary degrees bestowed upon her by American institutions of higher learning—is the famous "gate of opportunity" through which thousands of youngsters have passed during the last four decades.

Stretching to the right and left of this great entrance is a fence that encloses the largest campus in the world—more than 25,000 acres of land on which are situated 100 fine stone and brick buildings, most of which were erected by the students.

The thousands of students and faculty members of Berry schools closed their books and suspended all classes in mourning the loss of their famous leader.

Surviving Miss Berry are five sisters, Mrs. Bulow Campbell of Atlanta; Mrs. Alex Benneyman of Knoxville, Tenn.; Princess Ruspogi of Italy; Mrs. Mose Wright and Mrs. Sam Graham, both of Rome, Ga.; two brothers, Tom and Ike Berry, also of Rome, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Born in Rome, Ga., Oct. 7, 1866, Miss Martha McChesney Berry was the daughter of the late Capt. Thomas Rhea Berry. "Oak Hill," the beautiful old colonial home where she was born, is one of the show places of the south, reminiscent of Ante-Bellum days of southern aristocracy.

Bicycle Prices To Be Stabilized

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today requested all bicycle manufacturers to stabilize their prices at the level in effect on January 15 and to rescind any price increases since that date.

Henderson also instructed manufacturers to submit advance schedules on the proposed selling prices for the new "victory" bicycles which a number of manufacturers plan to build.

"It is of great importance that bicycle prices remain stable since they are important for civilian transportation," Henderson said.

He added that substantial increases had taken place in retail bicycle prices in recent months.

Siamese Girl Twins Will Be X-Rayed

Unusual Birth Occurs In Staten Island Hospital, In New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Staten Island's Siamese twins, two girls, their bodies fused from the seventh rib, just below the chest to a point about one-inch below the navel, were reported in "excellent" condition today.

Mrs. Jessie Picciotta, 27, wife of a Staten Island butcher, mother of the children, also was reported doing well.

The twins were born yesterday and weighed a total of 9 pounds 5 ounces.

Dr. Peter J. Timpone, who delivered the twins, said X-rays would be studied to determine how closely their organs and circulatory systems are interdependent. He said that in many similar cases the connection was superficial. No decision as to whether an operation will be performed to separate the twins will be made for a week or ten days, Dr. Timpone said.

"They cried independently, anyway," one of the attending nurses reported.

Hanna Is Presented With Safety Card

Holder of a safety record of which he is vastly proud, and one that few truck drivers can attain, W. J. Hanna of King avenue, driver for the Railway Express Agency of New Castle, was all smiles today as J. C. Searight of Pittsburgh, route agent, presented him with a safety record card today at the office located at the West Side Pennsy station.

Charged with the task of driving thousands of miles every year thru the heaviest of city and state traffic, Mr. Hanna has really done a remarkable job of driving. He has not had an accident, either on the road or at the loading platform.

The card which was presented to Mr. Hanna by Mr. Searight was signed by L. O. Head, president of the Railway Express Agency. Being congratulated on all sides and rightfully so, Mr. Hanna has vowed to keep his record going just as long as is humanly possible.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Maternal deaths in Pennsylvania have been greatly reduced.

In 1934, the death rate was 5.3 per 1,000 births.

In 1940, it was 3.2 and final figures will be lower for 1941.

This is a saving of 1,364 women between 1934 and 1941.

In the United States in 1939, 4 mothers died for every 1,000 births. This rate is 32 per cent lower than for the year 1934.

The lives of 10,000 mothers was thus saved in this country.

More than 75 per cent of births in Pennsylvania occur in hospitals.

In 1935 abortion was the chief cause of maternal deaths.

Since 1937, it has been the second leading cause.

Public instruction in maternal welfare is of vital importance.

Mothers should be saved.

Report Says Vichy Rejects "Demands" Of United States

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 27—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, French chief of state, has rejected the "intolerable demand" made by the United States that all French fleet movements must receive prior authorization by the United States, Reuters (British) news agency reported today, quoting the Nazi-controlled Paris radio.

It was the first indication, anywhere, that any such demand had been made by the United States.

(Editor's Note: The Germans have shown increasing displeasure over what they have termed the "influence of Leahy" at Vichy. It was thought possible in authoritative circles that the Paris radio might be floating a trial balloon.)

The demand was said to have been transmitted to Marshal Petain by U. S. Ambassador Admiral William D. Leahy.

After rejection of the demand, the Paris radio added, rumors were rife in American quarters that Leahy would leave his Vichy post as a protest.

Learn More About Nation's Protection

Several scores of persons affiliated with industrial plants and utilities in this section attended yesterday's session at the Elks Home, of the FBI school in regard to plant protection.

The session was in charge of Special Agent G. W. Carlson. The school will continue for two more days and police officials and officers from various towns in this district have been constant attendants at the worthwhile sessions because each deals with the protection of the nation.

Method of guard plants and the proper procedure to follow in dealing with bombs was explained.

Nice Idea, But It Back-Fired

(International News Service)

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Feb. 27.—It was all very dramatic, but Woodrow Havekost's plan to win favor with his girl friend was a failure, he admitted today.

Released from a hospital following treatment for knife wounds on the face, neck and arms, Havekost told police he took his own pocketknife slashed himself and then went to the girl's home to tell her he had been wounded in a fight with an unidentified man who insulted her name.

Carrying out his plan, Havekost staggered up to the girl's house, rang the door bell and then dramatically collapsed on the steps.

But the plan fizzled out. She wasn't home.

"Lay in a year's supply of soap," says Babson, who probably doesn't care what small boys think of him.

Ross May Get Endorsement

Auditor General Likely To Get Support Of Democratic Committee

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Auditor General F. Clair Ross is expected to be endorsed for governor today by the Democratic state committee, barring a political coup by U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey.

A select committee of 20 was unable to agree on a harmony candidate and requested another two weeks "to work out a satisfactory program."

The first test of Senator Guffey's ability to block the endorsement of his former protege was slated to take place at 11 a. m., when the 113 state committee members voted whether to waive the rule requiring endorsements.

The request that Rule Five, adopted in 1934 with Guffey's support, should be repealed was made by Guffey and State Chairman Meredith Meyers. It was opposed by National Committeeman David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, a power in state politics.

Meyers admitted that Ross would win committee endorsement if the rule were not waived. Opponents of Ross, who was reportedly backed by Lawrence, accused the Butler man of having many committee members on his payroll, some said a majority, thus ensuring his selection.

Plans were to hold a second meeting of the state committee at 7 p. m. in the event the endorsement rule was not repealed, at which time a complete slate would be nominated for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs; congressman at large, supreme court justice and superior court judge. The governorship fight has obscured slatings for the rest of the party ticket.

The official party nominees will be nominated by the voters at the May 19 primary, with the general election to be held on November 3. Thirty-three congressmen, 208 state assemblymen and 25 state senators will also be elected.

Bessemer Primed For Tourney Game

Section 20 Kings Battle Zelienople At Beaver Falls High Gym Tonight

SETTO TO START AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

Stirred by an exceptionally rousing pep meeting this afternoon, an optimistic Bessemer high cage team faces Zelienople in a first round Class B W.P.I.A.L. tourney skirmish billed for spacious Beaver Falls high gym tonight at 8.

The Lawrence countians will defend the colors of Section 20 while the Butler countians tote the standard bearer of Section 23.

By tip-off time, the stands are expected to be fairly well filled for the 32-minute struggle.

Bessemer high officials today indicated that more than 150 rooters from the cement manufacturing city will form part of the gallery. Zelienople will lure an even larger congregation.

Bessemer Prepared

Bessemer, which makes its third bid for the B ribbon, is prepared for the titanic fracas. Coach A. G. Capezuttie brightened the school colors immeasurably by announcing that Jack Grubisa, the team's ace in the hole, will be available for action. The speedy guard recently sustained a "charley horse." For a time, it was feared that Jack would have to review the setto from the sidelines.

The "Cement City" tossers, winners of 16 clashes out of 19 battles, will rely on their usually reliable zone defense to jam the fast-breaking plays which feature Zelienople's attack.

In yesterday's final drill, Bessemer looked the part of true champions, every performer enacting his role much to the satisfaction of the mentor. Bessemer's shooting also impressed.

Joe "Slugger" Novad and John "Kressie" Kresevich will team up at the forward stations. Kresevich hap popped in 110 points. At center, Paul "Tex" Tasota, the towering performer, figures to be a predominant factor in the outcome of the tussle.

Ben "Buddy" List, one of the better guards in the county, and the celebrated Jack Grubisa will line up at their sentinel berths. Grubisa is the key scorer with 161 points. Tasota and Kresevich are deadlocked for second place honors with 110 points.

Bessemer has swished the lace for 532 points for an average of about 28 points and has limited its opponents to an amazing low mark of only 21 points a game.

Won All Loop Games

Zelienople, paired with Evans City, Mars and Hopewell in Section 23, copped the laurels by winning all six league frays. Tuesday, the champs were forced to go an extra period to knock off Evans City. Bessemer's adversary has faced Wampum and East Brook this season, breaking even with both local outfits.

The team's mainstay is a guy with a name like a Fordham football player, Szekelyhidl, and Yockey. By bottling the pair, Bessemer would advance to the second round.

Bessemer's task is a difficult one since the tussle is a Beaver Falls high booking. The valley hardwood has proved a Corrigdor for local teams, especially in tourney events. Wampum, New Wilmington and Union Township met defeat in their tourney tests in the past few years.

Tonight's winner will face the survivor of the Monaca-South Fayette vs. Bridgeville joust, on Friday, March 6, at Beaver Falls.

The probable lineup:

BESSEMER.		ZELIENOPLE.
Novad	F.	Slack
Kresevich	F.	Yockey
Tasota	C.	Szekelytidl
List	G.	Meeder
Grubisa	G.	J. Getsay

Greeks-Epworth Battle Tonight

Three more games are carded for tonight in the New Castle Churcn Basketball league with the feature game on the menu coming last—and featuring the St. George "Fighting Spartan" Greek team against the favored Epworth Methodist team.

Coach "Manny" Othites of the Greek team said today that his "Fighting Spartans" hoped to put up a good game against the East Siders, but hardly expected to win it. In the first game the league leading Second U. P. team expected to romp easily in their battle with the Central Christians. In the second game the Croton Methodists looked for a setback at the hands of the Fighting Irishmen of St. Mary's church.

Zivic-Motisi Fight Tonight

(International News Service)

CHICAGO Feb. 27.—Fritzie Zivic, grizzled Pittsburgh veteran of the welterweight wars, will seek to rout a Chicago "jinx" tonight when he swaps punches with 23-year-old Tony Motisi over the ten-round route in the main event of a Coliseum boxing card.

The former welterweight king who twice beat the great Henry Armstrong will take anything but fond memories into the Coliseum ring. It was there that he lost to Milt Aron and Laddie Tonelli—opponents he later knocked out in return bouts at Pittsburgh.

Despite this unimpressive Chicago record and his own admission that he now finds it hard to maintain his old punching pace, Zivic probably will be a 7 to 5 favorite over Motisi at the ringside. Fritzie breezed through his final workouts in a Chicago gymnasium with a zest which led his backers to predict that he would knock out Tony in an early round.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—When the Brooklyn Dodgers won the National League pennant last season they reached an artistic peak that they had hardly ever approached before. From their last pennant year, 1920, they had slumped into such buffoonry both afield and financially that the club's future actually was threatened, whereupon the saga of their comeback was started with the appearance of Larry MacPhail on the scene in 1938.

From sixth place and a half million dollars in debt them bums have gone to the pennant and out of hock in four seasons. That's travelling. What's more, the rest of the National League clubs might just as well be prepared to meet the Dodgers as contenders far into the future. They have built to the pennant while getting out of hock. What can be expected of them now that the Brooklyn Trust Company has announced that all that half million dollar deficit has been wiped out?

Goes On Warpath

It was a great day for Brooklyn and, possibly, a sorry one for other National League clubs when MacPhail, then just recently hired as general manager took one gander at the run-down Dodger ball park and said:

"This joint looks like a subway wash room," and proceeded to go on a tear of rehabilitation that sometimes caused him to be censured but ultimately has proved him to be one of the great executives of these times in sports. You may not like him personally—but we won't go into that.

The bank's announcement yesterday that the tab had been paid in full means, for one thing, that the Dodgers can pour their future profits in one direction—keeping the Dodgerrs on top. That could mean, in turn, the beginning of an era such as the New York Yankees have enjoyed in the other league. Ask MacPhail.

Bigger Crowds

With the Dodgers about to set forth in defense of that first pennant in more than 20 years, it is interesting to check back on what they have accomplished in the four years since the rebuilding started in 1938.

The year previous they drew 482,569 customers at home and finished sixth. In 1938 they attracted 750,132, with the aid of Babe Ruth as coach, Jesse Owens running against ball players, night games and other attractions, and finished seventh. In 1939, it was 1,007,759 and third place; in 1940, 977,093 and second place and last year 1,214,903 and the pennant.

In those four years no fewer than 81 players have appeared in Dodger uniforms and only two who were there in 1938 are still around—Leo Durocher, then the club's shortstop and now the manager and Coach-Pitcher Fred Fitzsimmons.

The newcomers include an infield that cost close to $200,000—First Baseman Dolph Camilli, Second Baseman Billy Herman, Shortstop Pee Wee Reese and Third Baseman Arky Vaughn. They didn't cost all that in cash. Players went into the deals, too, but the point is they made the Dodgers, along with high-priced other stars such as Joe Medwick, Kirby Higbe and Mickey Owen.

Rosters Raided

The Dodgers have reached out everywhere for talent, raiding the rosters of other major league clubs with cash and players and dirring into the minors to probably set records for the number of players given try-outs.

They've had 24 outfielders alone, and it got so far for awhile that any time passersby saw a stranger hanging around Ebbet's Field they asked for his autograph convinced he was another MacPhail importation.

Out of all this has come the Dodgers of today—National League champions, contenders for the next pennant with virtual assurances of finishing no worse than second or third for the time being and possibly far into the future.

Junior Church League Games

Four games will be played in the junior church basketball league at the "Y" on Saturday. The first game will start at 4:15 o'clock and will find the Baptists battling the First Presbyterians. At 6:15 the second game will be played and will have the First Christians playing the Central Christians.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Lot of short stuff tossed together: In tonight's Class B, W.P.I.A.L. tourney skirmish, I like Bessemer over Zelienople high. The localites' experience should tell the story. . . . Frank C. Summers, sojourning in the hot sunshine of Florida, postcards. Says he'll be home in a couple of weeks. . . .

Despite the fact that Duquesne and Westminster have been slapped around a few times, next Tuesday's tilt at New Wilmington will do an overflow business. The game was a sellout as far back as January. The setto still ranks as the topper of the campaign in this district. . . .

Confidential note:—Penn State can have a bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tourney by a nod of the head. I doubt if the Lions will accept, not if Ned Irish mails an invite to the National Invitational tourney, which is forthcoming. Since the NCAA classic is a New Orleans affair, the Lions will grab the Manhattan bid, eliminating lots of travel. . . .

Personal observation: — Johnny Lawther is one of the greatest collegiate coaches in the land. He teaches the best defensive game in the business. The ex-Westminster tutor concocts top-notch teams out of ersatz material, year in and year out. I invite anyone to match his record which dates back to the golden era of Westminster days. . . .

L. (which could stand for limburger) Franklin received $11,000 for being Pastor-ized. Bob's check was for $13,000. . . . Before forgetting the scrap, I'd like to mention that Pastor's seconds played an important part in his victory. The expert way in which they closed that gash over Bob's left eye in the third ranks as the most successful ring operation I ever saw. . . .

Buck Fausett, who tried to duplicate Bucky Walters by giving up his third base post for the slab, has retired from baseball. He played with Minneapolis. . . . Valparaiso university's athletic teams were known as the Uhlans. When the war broke, the school quickly and wisely shifted the handle. Now it's the "Crusaders." . . .

Pat Comisky, who celebrated his 21st birthday a few days ago, is making a comeback. The poor kid, who was brought up too fast, is flat broke. . . .

Colored Church League Tonight

Two games will be played tonight in the New Castle Colored church basketball league at the Arena floor In the first game at 5:45 o'clock the league leading Bethel A. M. E. team will play the Union Baptists.

In the second game at St. Pauls team battles the St. Lukes quintet.

SEARS IS HUSKY.

The New York Yankees have come up with another husky backstop prospect in 23-year-old Ken Sears, who hit .301 with Newark last season. Sears stands six feet, one inch, and weighs 200.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Wrestling will get under way in the W. P. I. A. L. tournament which will be held tonight and Saturday in Waynesburg High school. Canonsburg and Waynesburg are the defending co-champions. New Castle has no mat team.

Joe Louis will train at Fort Dix for his coming bout with Abe Simon for the benefit of army relief. The site was selected yesterday. At present Private Joe is undergoing basic training at Camp Upton.

Backfield shift which the late Knute Rockne developed while an under-graduate at Notre Dame will be scrapped by the Irish football team this spring in favor of the T-formation, according to Coach Frank Leahy.

Only an apprentice rider, yet a four-time winner in a day at Hialeah. The jockey, Eddie Wielander. He was successful with His Shadow, K Dorko, Haut Mond and French Trap.

Grove City college swimmers defeated W. & J. at Grove City Thursday, 42 to 24. Kramer won the 100-yard free style in 57.3 for W. & J. and the Presidents also won the 400-yard relay. Grove City won the other events.

Because Akron has dropped out of the Middle Atlantic loop, club presidents will meet Sunday to determine which of the seven teams will be dropped to lower the roster to a six-club circuit.

Titans Will Face Bethany Saturday

Westminster Flippers Make First Home Showing Since February 7

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 27.—After a lapse of three weeks, Westminster's Titans play before the home crowd again on Saturday night, facing Bethany's Bisons in the 19th battle of the season.

After losing to Brooklyn and Villanova, the Titans found their winning ways again at the expense of Pitt's Panthers, Wednesday night, 53-48.

Earlier this season, Westminster notched an easy 69-33 victory over Bethany and figures to romp with ease again.

Despite the fact that the game is a next week booking, the Titans are eyeing Tuesday's "it" battle of the season which brings Duquesne's celebrated Dukes to the New Wilmington gym.

Westminster, winner of 14 clashes out of 19, will mark the Titan basketball ledger with "most successful" in capital letters if they dump Duquesne.

The water buffalo does not need to live in the water to sustain life, as its name might imply. It must have water to drink, like other animals, but its fondness for water is for comfort, not for the maintenance of life.

MILTONS TAKE VICTORY

The Milton A. C. Big Five trimmed the Polish Falcon Reserves last night at the Falcon floor in a preliminary game 42 to 31, with Humphreys the big star in the Milton lineup with 19 of the points. Bill Patton with 12 points also played a fine game, as did Kurdupski and Janoski of the losing team.

Sunday the Miltons will play the North Hill All-Stars at the Arena at 1:30 o'clock. In the preliminary game the Milton Jayvees will play a fast class B team.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

It can't happen here . . . Yes it can happen here, don't fool yourself into thinking that no air raid will happen to this county. Last night the Civilian Defense meeting in Court Room No. 2 was a huge success . . . every political sub-division of the county was represented . . . all the various chiefs of the Defense Program were on hand . . . rules and regulations for the various officers was read. This prepairing for an air raid is not child's play . . . we must all realize that we must do our part if we want to be successful in protecting our town and country side from the air. Every person has a job to know . . . air raid wardens, fire watchers and the others that act in a air raid or blackout can't do the whole thing . . . you folks who are in the homes have a job to do. Where are you going to stay during an air raid? . . . within a very short time drills will be held on this phase . . . keep your mind clear and open for instructions.

We don't want anyone to become unduly alarmed . . . but the United States is at War . . . too many people in this county haven't thought too much about that . . . it's true they haven't been able to purchase this or that, but outside of that they are now living normal lives . . . we can keep on living along the same lines but we must add to that some extra living. We can all do it, so let's go after this Civilian Defense with a steady hand . . . we Americans can take it, let's show the boys in camp and on the field of battle that we back home are not going to let them down for one moment.

Here it is the 27 of February . . . snow is on the ground. Soon it will be the first day of March . . . will it come in as a Lion or a Lamb? Well, what's the difference, we take the weather as it's dished out . . . But March holds something else beside the beginning of spring . . . March should be a month of laugher because we have the show Hocus-Pocus to see. It has been about 4 years since last we laughed with our local stage talent. This year's show promises to be a huge success . . . looking over the cast we find some new talent that will really open your eyes. Young and old take part . . . so save your pennies, good entertainment is as necessary in times of strife as most anything else. March 12 and 13th are the dates. All Kiwanis members can supply you with tickets.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The stock market rallied fractions to as much as a point today, following its irregular advance in the preceding session.

Several representative issues gained a point or more. Included were Standard Oil of N. J., Texas Co., Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft and Coca-Cola.

Santa Fe for the second day in a row reached a new 1941-42 peak, getting up to 37. Rails generally were moderately improved.

Coppers, electrical equipments, rubbers, steels, utilities and farm implements for the most part were fractionally above last night's closing levels.

A few scattered issues were backwards, as Sears Roebuck, Phelps-Dodge and Libby-Owens-Ford.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

STOP CORN BORER BY WINTER WORK

Farmers must keep on the trail of one of their most destructive enemies—the European corn borer. On some Pennsylvania farms where the danger has been overlooked, stalk infestation has exceeded 60 per cent. Start now to clamp down on this pest.

Corn borer larvae pass the winter in standing stalks or in corn stubble as near to the ground as they can get. They also occur in thick-stemmed weeds or other plants in or near infested corn fields.

To control corn borer these materials must be turned under cleanly in early spring to prevent the development of the adult moths. These moths would fly to the fields of newly growing corn and deposit eggs from which many more borers would hatch. As a result more corn would be damaged than the farmer lost last year.

Right now break down standing stalks and tall stubbles or weeds so they can be plowed cleanly. Shred all stalks being used as feed or for other purposes. Often the stalks not otherwise used are shredded and distributed over the fields to insure a better job of plowing under. In fact any practice that will insure the proper disposal of borer infested refuse will be worthwhile.

SOIL EROSION PRESENTS SERIOUS FARM PROBLEM

Soil erosion, often called soil washing, is neither a new nor recent problem confronting Lawrence county farmers. When the white man started to work the soil to produce crops, he disturbed the natural vegetation then covering the surface and exposed the soil to the action of the elements. At first the action of water upon the soil, cutting it loose, picking it up and carrying it away was not noticeable.

This was primarily because the virgin soil could take a lot of abuse, and also because the land was sparsely settled.

As more people settled over the country, the need for more land for crop production was natural. The more level areas were used first for crop production and then as the demands became greater, the wasteful clearing of steep hillsides was started and continued over a long period. Small fields developed into larger fields, short slopes into long slopes, and land was worked harder to produce man's needs.

Soil and tillers of the soil can be classified in the same manner. Soil is considered being good or poor in its relation to crop yields and those who work the soil are considered being good or poor according to the manner in which they manage the soil. Good soil and a good farmer bring excellent results, but good soil and a careless farmer is a different story. On good soil the careless farmer is carried along for a while by the the soil, but sooner or later he brings the soil down to his level.

Whether soil is classified as good or poor, the use of it without abuse should be the goal of every farmer. One of the surest ways to make a farm more profitable both from the standpoint of yearly returns and investment in the land itself is to prevent erosion of all kinds. Every time it rains and muddy water leaves the field, soil is lost. This so-called "sheet type" of washing is the most serious of all. Many farmers think that such an occurrence is natural and cannot be helped. If washing is permitted to continue until crop yields are sharply reduced, it is too late to do much.

The easiest type of washing to see is the gutter or gully type. After a heavy rain a farmer can easily take account of the number of gullies washed in a field. These gullies start at a place down the slope where water has collected in sufficient volume, and the speed is great enough to cut and carry away soil. The cut where first made is narrow and shallow, but as it continues down the slope it becomes wider and deeper. This type of washing causes unnecessary repair expense to machinery and much inconvenience at harvest, haying or plowing time.

Some of the simple ways to reduce soil washing are: good rotations, strip farming, more and better permanent pasture, long lasting hay and reforestation. These will be discussed next week under the subject of "Proper Land Use".

WHEAT CAN BE FED TO DAIRY CATTLES

Many dairymen are asking how wheat can be used in the dairy ration.

Wheat is a desirable feed for dairy cattle. It is nutritious, quite palatable and compares in feeding value with corn and barley. Because the kernal is hard and small it should be ground medium fine or rolled.

Wheat should not be fed alone or in large amounts but in combination with other feeds. It can be substituted for part of the corn, barley or other home-grown grains. It can make up one-fifth to one-fourth of the grain mixture.

Wheat does not take the place of bran as the effect on an animal's digestion tract may be considerably different. Wheat is a rather heavy, pasty feed while bran is light, cooling and laxative.

DRIED FRUITS CONTAIN EXCELLENT FOOD VALUE

The rule of good nutrition says two fruits each day. Fruits are the most valuable for the minerals and vitamins which they add to the diet.

To supplement canned fruits and fresh fruits, home economics specialists suggest dried fruits such as apricots peaches, and prunes. These are excellent foods.

In minerals, especially iron, dried fruits, outshine the corresponding fresh fruits weight for weight. Dried apricots and peaches are very rich in iron, and dates, figs, prunes, and raisins also supply this essential mineral. Besides their mineral content, dried fruits are rich in certain vitamins. Dried apricots and yellow peaches are rich in vitamin A.

It's easy to cook dried fruits. However, there is a right way to cook any dried fruit—a quick way that makes the fruit plump and juicy. Simply wash the fruit and put it in a saucepan, cover with hot water, and let soaked for about an hour. Then put the fruit on to cook in the same water. Cook for about a half hour, or until tender. Dried fruits may be served warm or cold.

Starting at the beginning of the day, dried fruits fit smoothly into the breakfast menu as the fruit course, or to change the flavor of the cooked cereal. Dates, figs, prunes, and raisins are especially good with cereals.

Breads, both yeast and quick, take on new flavor when you add dried fruits to the dough or batter. And in turn, these breads make delicious and nutritious sandwiches for the school lunch box or dainty morsels for the afternoon tea.

Dried fruits are adaptable for making a variety of desserts, from upside-down cakes, to dumplings, turnovers, shortcakes, or fruit whips.

Stuffed prunes are a good salad ingredient when combined with colorful canned fruit. Take cooked prunes, cut a slit in the side of each to take out the pit, and fill the center with peanut butter, cream cheese or cottage cheese. Other dried fruits may be substituted for prunes in attractive salads.

Dried fruit confection is excellent for children. It provides necessary sweetness besides giving extra food value in the way of minerals and vitamins. Home Economics Extension specialists suggest the following way of making fruit confection:

1 pound prunes, 1 pound dates, 1 pound figs, 1 pound seeded raisins, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and ½ teaspoon salt. Wash all the fruit. Remove the pits from the prunes and dates. Grind the fruit in a food chopper, using the finest knife. Add lemon juice and salt. Stir well. Let stand over night. Make into small balls or squares. Roll in powdered sugar, put in oiled paper in a clean candy box. This paste keeps well in a cool place. Dates or figs may be omitted if they make the recipe too expensive, and for children under three, omit the figs.

New Discovery May Cut Bread Loss In 1942

International News Service

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 27—Development of a "mold inhibitor" may be the means of saving more than a half-billion loaves of bread in 1942, it was estimated by the du Pont Company.

Chemists reported that the simple addition to bread of a substance that is naturally present in many other foodstuffs has proved to have such a marked effect on delaying the growth of fungi in bread that American bakers striving toward greater food conservation plan to extend its use by 10 to 15 per cent during 1942.

Millions of dollars are lost annually. Mold is believed to be caused by tiny spores of fungi in the air. Usually most active during the summer, these invisible particles develop in bread after baking.

Although their growth cannot be wholly eliminated, the chemists said, even under the best sanitary precautions, the growth is greatly retarded by the addition of the mold inhibiting agent. It was reported about two ounces of the agent will protect 100 loaves of bread.

During the reign of Henry IV of Spain and Queen Joanna, the young queen condescended to dance with the French ambassador. In commemoration of the event, the diplomat vowed never to dance with any other woman.

Although they spend the greater part of their lives in the sea, sturgeon, like salmon and shad, move into fresh water to spawn.
